Parents Walk 165 Miles To Visit Injured Child

Case of 2-Year-Old Tommy Reid Whom They Took Away From Hospital Cited by State Commission for Crippled Children in Urging Legislation.

The case of 2-year-old Tommy Reid of West Fork, Reynolds County, Mo., whose left leg is useless because of a fall, is used as an argument by supporters of the bill to amend the Missouri Crippled Children's Commission for Crippled Children which proposes to recommend legislation for State aid for the estimated 10,000 crippled children in out-of-the-way parts of the State.

Tommy's case, it is pointed out, emphasizes the need for a State-wide organization to combat the misunderstandings which work against private relief in such cases.

When four months old, Tommy fell from a table leg. He fell and the fact that his hip was injured did not become known until he tried to walk. Reynolds County physicians could do nothing and last summer, by chance, the parents learned that the Missouri Crippled Children's Commission, operating with St. Louis and Kansas City hospitals, was providing free treatment in such cases.

Tommy was exchanged and the Federation arranged for Tommy's treatment at the Missouri Baptist Sanatorium here. Early in November he was sent to the hospital and two weeks later the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Reid, decided they would have to see their son.

Having no money, the couple walked most of the way to St. Louis. The distance was 165 miles but here and there they succeeded in begging short "hikes." At the hospital they found nothing had been done to Tommy's hip, and they could not understand.

Physicians explained that they should take Tommy back home for winning as much attention as the New York and Chicago shows where it was recognized as one of the leaders.

200,000 Sale Mark Set.

The selling of 200,000 Studebaker cars this year was the goal set for Studebaker distributors and dealers by Paul G. Hoffman, vice president and director of sales of the Studebaker Corporation, speaking at a luncheon meeting of distributors, dealers and salesmen at Hotel Chase yesterday afternoon.

This would include 50,000 Studebaker models and 150,000 Erskine models, Hoffman said.

C. L. Mason, St. Louis district manager, referred to the principles of the Studebaker Corporation during his 75 years as "honesty, integrity and truth." Edward Weber, president of the Weber Motor Car Co., and Studebaker distributor, told of his experience in selling Studebaker cars in St. Louis for 16 years.

Hugh P. Cartwright, president of the Cartwright Motor Co., also a Studebaker distributor, said his company had five men working in the St. Louis territory, who would assist dealers in effecting sales.

Philip H. Brockman, president of the De Luxe Automobile Co., Peerless distributors, was host yesterday noon at a luncheon-meeting for Peerless dealers at Hotel Coronado. Addresses were made by Leon R. German, vice president of the Peerless Motor Car Co., of Cleveland; A. Tucker, general sales manager; Frank G. James, vice president of the Sweeney & James advertising agency; and T. J. Kavanaugh, vice president of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. Robert E. Lee acted as toastmaster.

Kavanaugh said the Peerless factory had a wonderful standing in financial circles, and had found its every expansion without borrowing, though it had virtually unlimited banking credit. German said the Peerless Co. had $2,400,000 cash in banks and that the total of its indebtedness, including even bills for materials not yet due, did not exceed $395,000. All expense of designing the new Six-60 line and tooling for its production had been written off, he said.

Chrysler Dealers Meet.

S. M. Munroe, director of sales for the St. Louis district, C. E. T. Scharp, director of advertising, and T. R. Harrington, district supervisor, for the Chrysler Corporation, addressed a meeting of Chrysler dealers yesterday at the Hotel Coronado. L. M. Stewart, president of Midwest Motors, Inc., Chrysler distributors, presided at the meeting, which was attended by 150 dealers.

A moving picture, "Famous Fourths," was presented, emphasizing the rise in three years of Chrysler from twenty-seventh to fourth place in the automobile industry.

THROW PIANO FROM WINDOW

Interiors at City Hospital Smash.

Several interiors at City Hospital in playful mood last night, pitched an old grand piano from a second-floor window of the recreation room into the goldfish pond below. The piano was 10 feet below. The piano was badly smashed. The interiors finished off their recreation hour by upending a pool table.

Superintendent Schaff said today he would make no investigation of the affair as the piano had little value.

DOCTOR'S WIFE BEATEN TO DEATH IN DETROIT HOME

Mother of Two Children Killed Mysteriously While Husband Is Out for a Walk.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 23.—Identity of a clubber who killed Mrs. Grace Loomis, 34 years old, last night while her two children slept in an upstairs bedroom was sought today. The woman's husband, Dr. Frank R. Loomis, said the attack occurred while he was gone for a short walk.

The body was found on the floor of a sunroom, near a settee. A pane of glass in a window near the settee was broken, but no other evidence of a struggle was found. Deep cuts and bruises on the woman's head pointed to the clubbing attack, although a search of the house and its neighboring grounds did not disclose the hide of a dog.

Bloodstains were on Dr. Loomis' coat when he ran to a precinct police station two blocks from his home to notify officers. He explained the stains by saying that he had lifted the wife's body from the floor to ascertain if she were alive.

Dr. Loomis discovered the body, he told police, when he returned from a walk of less than an hour. Before taking the body, he said, he had given his wife $100 for safekeeping. The money was missing, but three diamond rings had not been taken from the woman's hands.

VENTRILOQUIST 'SURROUNDS' THREE SUSPECTED ROBBERS

Holds Them in Road With Voice and Empty Pistol Till Officers Arrive.

CAPE GIRARD, Mo., Feb. 23.—G. Holland, a traveling salesman who also happens to be a ventriloquist, captured three men who he thought were about to hold him up on the road Monday night near Morehouse. As the three men walked toward him, Holland, who represents a wholesale hardware firm, took a sample revolver, not loaded, from the seat beside him and covered them, at the same time throwing his voice behind them with the command, "Throw up your hands and don't look around."

The order was immediately obeyed. Holland then sent a companion, O. C. Burras, of Charleston, to Morehouse for a deputy sheriff, while he held the suspected highwaymen who imagined they were surrounded by several armed men.

The prisoners, taken to jail at Cape Girard, had only one thing to say for their behavior: "We wanted to hear a ride." They said they were Lee and Lou Green and Joe Vincent.

GIRL SCORES 500 WITH RIFLE

"Chicago Feb. 23.—They call her "Sure-Shot Mary" now, at Lake View High School, because 16-year-old Mary Ward, seeking a R. O. T. C. marksman's medal, shot 500 out of a possible 500 with a .300 Smith & Wesson rifle.

For the medal she had to count with 80 out of 100 point shots, but a check showed every try good; instead of making 85 out of a possible 100 for her first try, she made a perfect score and repeated while trying for a 50 and two 95s to win the other coveted bars.

SHOTS AT TWO PROWLERS

Arriving home last midnight, Arthur Krone, 3969a Sullivan avenue, saw a lotter in rear yard. Letting himself into his home without being observed, Krone obtained a revolver and went outside to challenge the prowler.

Krone fired three shots, after one of which the man clutched at his side and exclaimed: "You got me." He escaped, however, coming to the front of the house Krone observed another man, who fled, and Krone fired two shots at him.

Grocer Hold Up for $91.

GAMBLING SQUAD SAYS ARRESTS ARE IN VAIN

Charges Sidener Refused to Give Handbook Evidence to Grand Jury.

In a detailed report to Chief of Police Gerk today, the police gambling squad complained again of the difficulty in prosecuting horse race bookmakers, citing the case of John W. Conley, 4662 Delmar boulevard, arrested Dec. 30 in the cigar store at 1403 North Grand boulevard.

According to the report, City Detective Maguire placed a $2 bet on Escapade in the sixth race at Tijuana on that day, and received a memorandum tab from Conley. When Conley was arrested, a duplicate tab was found on his person, the report said, and he was charged with being custodian of a bet.

Members of the squad laid the case before Miss Florence Weigle, Assistant Circuit Attorney, the next day, and it was taken under advisement. On Jan. 14, seeking information as to the disposition of the case, they called on Miss Weigle again and were referred to Assistant Circuit Attorney L. Joel Wilson, who on Jan. 15 referred them to Circuit Attorney Sidener.

On Jan. 28 the detectives reported Sidener said he would lay the case before the grand jury, and on Feb. 1, when they returned for their evidence, he dismissed them with the explanation that it was not a case for the grand jury.

COOLIDGE MEETS JEWISH GROUP

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—A delegation of the American Jewish Congress paid their respects to President Coolidge today and quoted the President afterward as having told them that the example of citizenship given by Jews in this country should go a long way toward barring intolerance throughout the world.

The President praised the positions which Jews have taken in American affairs, his callers said, and declared that the high regard won by the American Jew would do more than any other thing to better the conditions of Jews abroad.

COLLEGE ELOPEMENT ENDS WITH DIVORCE

Mrs. Elizabeth McGirk Greene Wins Decree and Custody of Child.

Mrs. Elizabeth McGirk Greene, who eloped with Francis D. Greene, in December, 1922, while they were sophomores at Washington University, was granted a divorce by Circuit Judge Wurdeman at Clayton today and the custody of their 2-year-old daughter, Elizabeth, whom she had not seen since last December.

Mrs. Greene, who lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irvine A. McGirk, at 211 North Taylor avenue, Kirkwood, alleged general indignities. There was no contest. A stipulation being filed in which Greene agreed to pay $40 a month for the support of the daughter and a 5-week-old son, Richard.

Mrs. Greene alleged specifically that her husband was cruel to her, borrowed money from her, refused to join her in social activities and was rude and inhospitable to friends and associates. She alleged that after their separation, last September, her husband came to her parent's home and took away their daughter.

Greene, now a construction engineer in Chicago, did not appear, and the child was produced by an attorney. Greene is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Greene of Reavis place, Webster Groves.

DRY OFFICIAL SAYS JUDGE SANCTIONED UNDER-COVER PLOT

R. Q. Merrick Testifies Before House Committee as to Charges Against Frank Cooper of New York.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Resuming its investigation of impeachment charges against Federal Judge Frank Cooper of the Northern New York district, the House Judiciary Committee today heard R. Q. Merrick of the prohibition unit, explain under-cover operations in New York. Cooper's impeachment is being sought by Representative La Guardia (Rep.) of New York, who alleges that the judge broke the law by conspiring with prohibition agents to entrap law violators.

Chairman Graham said the committee had decided to require La Guardia to stay strictly within the limits of his impeachment resolution. La Guardia said he was ready to show misconduct on Judge Cooper's part "entirely outside of prohibition matters."

"I am prepared to show great abuse of power," he said, "and manifest unfitness for this office." Graham said the procedure would be decided when the situation arose.

Judge Suggested Dry Drive. Merrick testified that while prohibition administrator for New York in 1924, he discussed prohibition matters with Judge Cooper, who suggested that Merrick attempt to get higher-ups in a bootleg ring flourishing in Northern New York. Early in 1924, Judge Cooper told Merrick, the witness testified, that he was tired of imposing fines without an apparent let-up in violations and wanted to know why the higher-ups could not be arrested.

"I told him," Merrick said, "that I had had trouble with my agents, one of whom sold out to the bootleggers. I said that we could get funds from Washington, buy automobiles and buy and sell liquor ostensibly as bootleggers."

"I suggested we go a step further and sell liquor to wholesalers, and get them in that way for conspiracy."

Judge Cooper approved this plan, Merrick testified, and he then went to Washington to obtain the approval of Prohibition Commissioner Haynes and other officers. They said the plan could be worked if Judge Cooper would back them up.

Says Scheme Worked. The witness testified that the plan then was set in motion and Merrick's agents, posing as bootleggers, purchased Canadian ale and liquor and sold it "at a profit" in Albany and Troy. Through these officers, Merrick said, nearly every large bootlegger was arrested and brought before Judge Cooper for trial.

On inquiry from Representative Dyer of Missouri, Merrick testified that the plan was entirely his own suggestion and was made to Judge Cooper because the judge was anxious to get the key men in the bootleg ring.

Under cross-examination by Roscoe Irwin, counsel for Judge Cooper, Merrick testified that the only purpose of the under-cover plan as agreed to between himself and the judge was "to meet a bad crime situation in Northern New York."

He said he never discussed with Judge Cooper any details of the arrests resulting from the under-cover plan before the cases were brought to trial.

TWO CONVICTS SEIZE ENGINE IN FUTILE ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE

Locomotive Derailed and One Fugitive Is Wounded When Kansas Guards Open Fire.

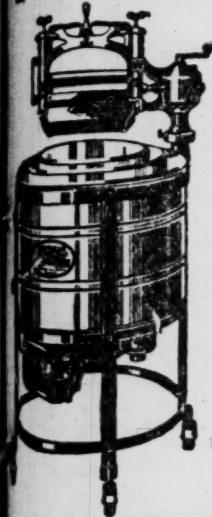

By the Associated Press. LANSING, Kan., Feb. 23.—An attempt by two convicts to escape from the State prison here aboard a commander's locomotive failed, when the engine was derailed and fire by guards brought surrender of the two before they had cleared the prison compound. One of them was wounded.

Slugging the two members of the engine crew, Ben Shaw, serving a term from Ford County for robbery, and June Enyart, serving a term for assault, from Cherokee County, mounted the cab and started out of the compound. Guards who saw the slugging opened fire as Enyart seized the throttle and the locomotive began slowly to pick up speed. Shaw was wounded in the hip, but the pair continued in flight until the engine struck a derail device and was thrown from the track.

Urges Locarno Pact for U. S. By the Associated Press. MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 23.—Subscription by America to the principles and ideas of the Locarno peace pact is necessary to the safety of the world, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, declared here last night. Dr. Butler told his audience that a continuance of America's policy of isolation is impairing the effectiveness of steps which European nations are taking to prevent future war.

FINAL CLEARANCE

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S CRITICS ARE EXCUSED

Only Overemphasize Faults in Seeking for Something Different, Dr. Holt Says.

Recent biographers of George Washington have not tried to defame him, the Rev. Dr. Ivan Leo Holt said in addressing the Sons of the Revolution at the Hotel Coronado last night. But, he added, the biographers have sought for something to make their work different from previous lives of Washington, and this quest has led them to overemphasize the faults and understate the recognized virtues of Washington.

Dr. Holt had less fault to find with Washington's biographers than with political speakers who quote fragments of Washington's utterances in support of their arguments.

"Not long ago," the speaker said, "I heard a speaker cite some saying of Washington, isolated from its context, to prove that Washington would have opposed Federal encroachment on State rights. But I seemed to recall that Washington was not averse to Federal encroachment when it seemed necessary. When some people in Pennsylvania proceeded on the idea that, because independence from England had been established, they were free to do whatever they wanted to, Washington sent troops into Pennsylvania and put down the Whisky Rebellion.
Washington's support of the assumption of the colonial war debts by the Federal Government was another case where he stood for Federal power.

"And when I hear Washington's words upon freedom from entangling alliances quoted in support of a policy of American isolation today, I resent it, unless the speaker explains, as he very rarely does, the circumstances under which Washington's words were spoken.
Any great leader would have done as Washington did then, and it does not follow that Washington would be an isolationist today.

"Instead of seeking to apply Washington's words literally to the changed conditions of today, we should seek to follow his spirit, and to apply his character and his courage to our problems."
Dr. Holt, pastor of St. John's Methodist Church, spoke in the absence of former Gov. Hyde, the scheduled chief speaker. Albert D.
Norton presided, and Thomas L.
Anderson delivered the address of welcome. H. J. Pettengill presented certificates to 17 new members.

JUDGE LINDSEY AND PASTOR DEBATE TRIAL WEDDINGS

Jurist Criticizes Regulations in Reply to Contention "Marriage Must Be for Keeps."

By the Associated Press.
DENVER, Colo., Feb. 22.— Judge Ben B. Lindsey debated his "companionate marriage" proposal last night with the Rev. Burris A. Jenkins of Kansas City. It was a no-decision affair.

Rigid religious regulations constitute one of the principal reasons for divorce, the Denver Juvenile Court Judge declared in answering Dr. Jenkins' contention that "marriage must be for keeps."
In taking the affirmative side of the subject, "Resolved, that legal recognition and regulation of companionate marriage would be beneficial to society," Judge Lindsey said present industrialism and cowardice of politicians in refusing to face social problems also were causes of divorce.

He advocated retention of the present marriage code with additional regulations permitting the contracting parties to obtain an annulment if they found the agreement unsatisfactory.

Dr. Jenkins maintained this would permit unscrupulous men and women to "flirt from marriage to marriage like butterflies from flower to flower."

ADVERTISEMENT Encouragement for Weak, Pale Women

Mrs. H. Boomgarden

"I was in very poor health for more than two years. I became weak and pale and the doctors failed completely to benefit me. I tried all the remedies I could get and they, too, failed. Then I heard of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and decided to try that. I had not taken it long when I noticed quite an improvement, so I continued and improved in health until I was perfectly sound and well. I never have experienced any of the aches and pains since."
Mrs. H. Boomgarden, 326 24 St. S.
W., Mason City, Iowa.

You'll be on the road to health if you purchase this "Prescription" of

ARREST OF TWO BOYS SOLVES 9 BURGLARIES

Officer on Car Discovers 10-Year-Old Children Looting Kroger Store.

Nine Kroger store burglaries which for several days mystified police, were solved last night when Special Officer Mulrooney of the North Market District happened to pass by on a street car while the burglars were gaining entry to a store at Nineteenth street and Cass avenue. They were two 10-year-old boys.

For the convenience of bread delivery men who make their rounds before the stores open, Kroger front doors are fitted with a small door in the bottom panel. This is about 6 inches wide and 22 inches long and is held shut by a small lock. In the last few days numerous managers reported that burglars were gaining entry through these panels, carrying away small amounts of money, chewing gum, candy and fruit, and sometimes relieving the panel doors upon leaving. The stores were in the north and northwest part of the city.

When Officer Mulrooney saw two small boys tampering with a Kroger front door, he divined that here was the explanation. He rode two blocks past and walked back. He found only one boy where two had been a moment before.

"Where is your pal," he asked.

"Inside getting the stuff," said the lookout.

"Well, you signal for him to come out."

Two short whistles brought out the youthful burglar with his pockets filled. The boys were taken to the station where they confessed they committed five of the burglaries and named three other boys of their own age who had robbed the other four stores. They were sent to the House of Detention and the police are looking for the others. The boys said they had been able to unlock the panel door by inserting a flat piece of wood in the lock.

REROUTING TO CUT 121 MILES FROM OCEAN-TO-OCEAN ROUTE

Pike's Peak Association Outlines Other Changes at St. Joseph Meeting.

By the Associated Press.
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Feb. 23.—The Executive Board of the Pike's Peak-Ocean-to-Ocean Highway Association, in session in St. Joseph yesterday, authorized rerouting of the highway which is advertised as the shortest between New York and Los Angeles.

A branch route was authorized leaving the main route at Sever, Utah, and extending to the north rim of the Grand Canyon. Rerouting across the Mojave Desert from Las Vegas, Nev., to Barstow, Cal., eliminates a longer route over old trails. This change shortens the highway 121 miles.

A third change provides for entrance to New York at the Forty-second street ferry, instead of the Weehawken ferry. It was said this will eliminate problems of congestion.

It was reported that the highway is hard-surfaced from New York to Shelbyville, Mo., and that from Shelbyville to the west coast 60 per cent of the highway is hard-surfaced. The board adjourned today after authorizing a $4000 expenditure for advertising in 1927.

DETECTIVES RAID RAFFLE AND PUNCHBOARD STORE

Arrest James J. Lindsey and Confiscate 4000 Tickets and 40 Cards.

Four thousand raffle tickets and 40 punchboards were seized yesterday in the confectionery and cigar store of James J. Lindsey at 1819 Chouteau avenue by officers under Detective-Sergeant Mulcahy and Constable. Two detectives said they spent $3.10 on five and ten cent punchboards, winning nothing, before the place was searched.

The raiders said Lindsey, who was arrested, admitted he had operating punchboards for about two years. The raffle, he explained, was a trade-getter conducted on the basis of a chance free with every 25-cent purchase and monthly prizes aggregating $85.

LOSES RACE TO DEATH BED

By the Associated Press.
CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 23.—Mrs. George Cassatt of London, England arrived in Cincinnati today, losing by 24 hours her race to reach the bedside of her father, former Gov. Judson Harmon, before his death. He died yesterday morning almost at the hour his daughter came in sight of America. Mrs. Cassatt started from her home in receipt of word her father was to enter the Jewish Hospital and that, on account of his age, his illness might prove to be serious. Funeral services for the former Governor will be held Thursday afternoon at the Harmon residence. The Rev. Jesse Halsey of the Seventh Presbyterian Church will officiate. Burial will be in Spring Grove cemetery here. Both the Federal and State courts here appointed honorary pallbearers today for the funeral. The courts will adjourn during the services.

Ends His Life on Train.
CAIRO, Ill., Feb. 23.—A middle-aged man, thought by railroad authorities to be Charles Gervais, committed suicide on an Illinois Central train on the way from Paducah, Ky., to this city last night. He shot himself.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application of two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold. Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for only 75 cents, all ready for use.

It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and luster of your hair. Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

WOMAN BEATEN BY UNSEEN ASSAILANT

Mysterious Attack on Miss Laura Weinberg, 19, as She Was Walking Home.

Miss Laura Weinberg, 19 years old, of 1366A Blackstone avenue, was seriously injured last night by an unseen assailant who beat her on the head with a blunt weapon as she walked home from a street car near her home shortly after 10 o'clock.
At city hospital, suffering with severe lacerations of the scalp and possible fracture of the skull, Miss Weinberg told police she did not see the man or the instrument he used. She was returning alone from the Olson Building, where she had an evening clerical position when she heard footsteps behind her.
Without looking around, she quickened her pace, and the footsteps drew closer. In front of 1328 Blackstone avenue she was struck. While the assailant rained blows on her head, she fell to her knees screaming, and the stranger fled. Neighbors came to her aid but did not catch a glimpse of the assailant.

Miss Weinberg was carried into the residence at No. 1328 where she was taken to the hospital. Both she and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Weinberg, with whom she lives, declared she had no enemies. There was no other passenger on the Page street car when she alighted, Miss Weinberg said, and the assailant did not seize her or speak to her.

GUNMAN OF 40 YEARS AGO NOW MINISTER OF GOSSIP

Alex Adair, Once Member of Jesse James Gang, Conducting Services in Denver.

By the Associated Press.
DENVER, Feb. 22.—Pony express rider, mule skinner, outlaw and bandit with a price on his head, and evangelist—Alex Adair, once a member of the notorious Jesse James gang, was all of them. "Crime don't pay," says Adair, and "that's the reason 40 years ago I hit the sawdust trail." As he nightly conducts his services here in the chapel of the Volunteers of America, but few visualize him as a one-time outlaw.

Nevertheless, Adair can recall most vividly many stirring episodes of his early life, several of which resulted in a price on his head. Characters which enter into his reminiscences include the James Brothers, Henry Starr and his band of Oklahoma outlaws and Cherokee Bill.

Adair's "service" with the James gang resulted in his arrest several times ranging from horse stealing to train robbery. Later, after leaving the James band, he obtained work as a stage-coach driver.

THREE HELD IN HIGHWAY FIGHT
Lebanon Motorists Charged With Assault on Teamster.

Arbold Wolf, Earl LeBeque and Dan Mueller of Lebanon are in the St. Clair County Jail following their arrest by Deputy Sheriff Gust Meder on warrants charging them with assault with intent to murder William Haerdig, also of Lebanon.

Haerdig says he was driving along the highway towards Lebanon with a horse and wagon when the three men came along in an automobile. He pulled to the side of the road to permit them to pass, but they insisted that he give them more room. When he protested, it is charged, they struck him on the head with the butt of a pistol inflicting injuries and that they also fired a number of shots and then drove away.

JUDGE FREES OKLAHOMA DEPUTY Miami Officer Was Charged With Protecting Criminals.

By the Associated Press.
MIAMI, Ok., Feb. 23.—Frank M. Warner, former Ottawa County Deputy Sheriff, was freed today of the charge filed against him several weeks ago in connection with what the Attorney General's office alleged was an organized movement to protect criminals.

County Judge Davidson dismissed the case after the State, which had asked a third continuance, announced it wanted the hearing postponed indefinitely.

BOARD TO HEAR BUS PROTESTS
Complaints that solid-tired double-decked buses of the People's Motor Bus Co. are damaging the pavement and abutting houses on Waterman avenue between Union boulevard and Skinker road will be heard by the Board of Public Service at City Hall at 11 a. m. Friday.

The hearing was requested by the Waterman Avenue Improvement Association, recently formed to force the bus company to use pneumatic tires or discontinue use of Waterman avenue.

MAY UNCOVER HERCULEANEUM
Missouri Government Considers Undertaking the Excavation.

ROME, Jan. 20.—The complete excavation of the buried city of Herculeaneum, at the foot of Vesuvius, is now being studied by the Italian Government, and it is semi-officially stated that definite approval of the plan will be granted within a relatively short time. The work will be extremely difficult and costly, but by all indications correspondingly fruitful. The city lies fully 100 feet under the present level; the volcanic substance under which it was buried is unusually hard; and, finally, the site is now occupied by modern villages, whose inhabitants would have to be indemnified by the Government. But it is an older and more aristocratic town than the neighboring Pompeii (which might be called the Atlantic City of Rome), and because so deeply buried is certainly in a more complete state of preservation. The few hundred square feet excavated in the early eighteenth

Over 70 years of HEALTH VICTORIES

Many Unions Oppose Daylight Saving Plan

Idea Suggested by Dr. Starkloff as Health Measure, Defeated by St. Louis Aldermen in 1921, '22 and '23.

Health Commissioner Starkloff's views on daylight saving by setting clocks forward one hour in summer as a means of giving more opportunity for recreation to those who need it most are not shared by those who have successfully opposed it here for six years.

They are shared still by those who tried to have it adopted here in 1921, 1922 and 1923. In 1921, daylight saving had the endorsement of 41 organizations and 100,000 employees of more than 425 firms, but advocates were completely squelched in 1923 by a unanimous opposing vote in the Board of Aldermen. President Neun of the board said today that he believed most of the members still were opposed to it.

Dr. Starkloff explained that the measure had come to his attention at the meeting of the American Public Health Association in Buffalo. Health Commissioners of Eastern cities which have had daylight saving for several years, unofficially "talking shop," told him it had definitely justified itself in betterment of public health.

Unions Oppose Idea.

Some of the strongest opposition comes from those who, its advocates say, would be most benefited by it—workmen and their families. The proponents say it will cut a sweltering hour, 4 to 5 p. m., from the working day, give the workman an added hour of daylight for outdoor recreation, and start him off to work while the morning still is fresh and cool.

That's just it, retort the workmen: they would have to get up just when they were beginning to get their first real sleep of the summer night. The Central Trades and Labor Union and the Building Trades Council have voted against daylight saving here, and the American Federation of Labor joined the farmers in obtaining repeal of the bill whereby national daylight saving was in effect in 1918 and 1919 as a war-time measure for economy and increased production for "backyard gardens."

How Workmen View Proposal.

Canvass today elicited that the Milk Wagon Drivers' local opposes it; they have to get up at midnight in summer now, and an hour earlier would be the last straw. The Street Car Men's Union opposes it because it would alter their working schedule. Some members of the Building Trades Council still are against it. They probably will discuss it in meeting tonight, and the Central Trades and Labor Union probably will get to it next Sunday.

One union official, when it was suggested that in the case of his particular group hours might be altered to meet the objection to daylight saving, responded: "Oh, yes, but try and get them to see it."

Opera Association Objects.

For the Municipal Opera it was stated that the additional hour of daylight at evening would encroach on the darkness that institution needs between 8 p. m. and 11 p. m., when overtime begins for its musicians and labor. Moving picture interests have strenuously opposed it.

Manager Niemoeller of the Associated Retailers, one of its strongest backers in 1921 and 1923, said that organization still was a staunch advocate of the plan but, in view of the opposition, did not care to initiate another movement for it.

Girl Hurt When Auto Hits Cycle.

Miss Viola Mead, 19 years old, of 2313A North Eleventh street, was seriously injured at 7:30 p. m. yesterday. She was thrown from the rear of a motor cycle driven by Alvin Schmidt, 29, of 2515 Blair avenue, when the cycle was struck by an automobile at Twelfth boulevard and Olive street. At City Hospital Miss Mead was said to have suffered a compound fracture of the left leg, concussion of the brain and internal hurts. Schmidt was bruised.

Oklahoma Mine Zone Bill.

Special to the Post-Dispatch: MIAMI, Ok.—State Representative R. W. Skinner has introduced a bill in the State Legislature which would provide for an additional State mine inspector and creating a new mine district, which would include only the zinc and lead mines of Ottawa County. The metal mines of Ottawa County are now under the jurisdiction of the inspector of the Third District, who has always been a coal miner, as the district also includes the coal fields of the State.

ECONOMY PARLEY AT GENEVA IN MAY

One Aim Is to Organize Europe Against Anglo-American Domination.

Copyright, 1927, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

GENEVA, Switzerland, Feb. 23.—Industrialists, economic experts, labor leaders and financiers of the world will be in Geneva in May for the League of Nations economic conference.

Great Britain will send a delegation of more than 60, five of whom are official representatives of the Government. These include Sir Arthur Balfour, steel magnate, Sir Norman Hill, head of a large insurance company, Sir Max Muppratt, president of the Federation of British Industries, and W. T. Layton, an economist. In addition British textile, mining, steel, shipbuilding and other key industries are sending observers.

The French delegation will include M. H. de Peyerimhoff de Fontenelle, an oil magnate; Louis Loucheur, industrialist and politician; Albert Herrays, director of the German-French industrial cartel, and Leon Jouhaux, labor leader. Germany is sending Trendelenberg and Siemens of the Elektrizites Gesellschaft, Gustav Cassel will head the Swedish delegation. Immigration, international debts and customs have been carefully deleted from the agenda. However, it is known both Italy and Japan will emphasize economic phases of immigration, while avoiding political aspects. War debts will have to be discussed in relation to movements of capital.

One of the chief objectives will be preparation for an economic pan-European designed to free the continent from Anglo-American domination. Extension of the German-French steel arrangement to other key industries is the first step contemplated.

STOMACH TROUBLE AFFECTED HIS HEART

Could Hardly Breathe. Eats Anything Now. Thanks to MILK'S Emulsion.

"For years I suffered with indigestion, constipation and accumulation of gas which affected my heart at times so I could hardly get my breath. I lived on raw eggs, toast and bread, and hot water, and still suffered. I tried several doctors for three years, but since taking Milk's Emulsion I have improved so that I can do my own farm and store work. Can eat most anything; have gained 10 pounds, and everybody speaks of how it has helped me."—A. Henley, Rio Vista, Va., R. 1, Box 157.

Milk's Emulsion restores healthy natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food, thus building flesh and strength, which are Nature's only aids in conquering germs and repelling the effects of wasting diseases.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Wonderful for weak, sickly children. No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milk's Emulsion. If not satisfied with results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Glass of Salts Help to Overcome Rheumatism Acid.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly, keep the feet dry, avoid exposure, and, above all, drink plenty of good water and avoid eating sweets of all kinds.

Rheumatism is caused by body waste and acids resulting from food poisoning. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also active in freeing the blood of this poison. In damp and chilly cold weather, the skin pores are closed, forcing the kidneys to do more work; they become weak and unable to eliminate this waste matter, and acids, which keep accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism, go to any pharmacy about four miles of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste matter, to stimulate the kidneys, thus clearing the blood of rheumatic poison.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and grape juice, combined with lilia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

PICTURE PANEL TO MAKE
SNAKES FEEL AT HOME

Camera Show Exhibits Realistic Glass Plate for New Reptile House.

One of the realistically colored translucent panels that is to make snakes at home in the new Reptile House, is on exhibit at the Camera Show of the Photographic Society of Missouri, in the Art Room of the Public Library, Fourteenth and Olive streets. It is a study of Snake Valley, Ill., in the foothills south of Murphysboro, where copperheads, rattlers, moccasins and other types of writhing and venomous fauna abound.

The panel is an actual photograph, produced in colors on a glass plate through an oil process. The scene was taken and the final plate prepared by Robert C. Knoll, a commercial photographer. Each reptile in the new house will have a naturalistic background in color photograph of this type, the glass plate being illuminated, as by sunlight, from an electric bulb behind it. The attempt will be made to provide landscapes closely resembling the natural habitats of the respective snakes.

Results of another oil-camera film process are exhibited in the very fine oil prints of Dr. E. T. Sennsney. The effect, in landscape, is that of a skillfully executed monotone, and in portrait, that of a smooth chalk drawing. Dr. George Richter has exhibited some oil print transfers, mainly landscapes, which are also effective.

The remainder of the exhibition ranges between around-the-world camera shots of distant lands and peoples, and dramatically photographed America. Of the latter, there are studies of the Grand Canyon, Wall street and Trinity Church, the Eads Bridge and, in abundant variety, American landscapes. The foreign scene is represented by studies made in Europe, China, Japan, Singapore and the Philippines.

Although many members of the Photographic Society are exhibiting, the six prizes offered can go only to nonmembers competing in the show. Commercial artists may exhibit, but are barred from competition for prizes. The judges are to be Frank Nuderscher, Jr., Oscar Thalinger of the St. Louis Museum of Fine Arts, and J. E. Nicholson. All three are painters.

Among those exhibiting are Dr. Howard Carter, Helen Valentine, H. Updike, H. W. Dreyer, Miss M. Axtater, Dr. C. W. Schery, "Melies," J. C. Dasser, R. C. Miller, R. A. Ross, G. Benz, J. Harding Curd, Virgil A. Siegrist and C. F. Schreuder.

The two most traditionally popular subjects for exhibition continue to be "Eads Bridge" and "Snow Scenes" in Forest Park. Each is represented as in exhibitions of other years, by dozens of entries. The show will last until March 3.

FIND $100,000 DISTILLERY
TOO EXTENSIVE TO DYNAMITE

Wisconsin Raiders Uncover Complete Arsenal and Prevent Operators From Reaching It.

TOMAHAWK, Wis., Feb. 23.—A sudden advance into the desolate hill country near Tomahawk has uncovered a $100,000 distillery with equipment so extensive that officials, armed with explosives to dynamite the plant, found they had not enough to destroy it. The raiders expect a month's work in bringing from the secluded hiding place the machinery and supplies which had been laboriously assembled over winding roads.

A formidable store of shotguns, rifles and pistols was found, but the official assault was so well timed that five men arrested were unable to reach their arsenal. In a house were two women and several babies.

A casual inventory showed that among machinery and supplies were seven gasoline engines, an engine-driven electric light system, a water system, motor driven, with an aqueduct from a spring 40 rods distant, machinery filling a barn 26x50 feet, two stills, 400 and 200 gallon capacity, 1200 gallons of alcohol, 15,000 gallons of corn sugar mash, 20 tons of sugar and scores of bright red gasoline barrels in which liquor was transported. About the distillery were several sleds.

ZION CITY DESPAIRS OF REALIZING FOUNDER'S DREAM

Future Development to Be Confined to Corporate Limits—91 Acres of Ground Sold.

ZION, Ill., Feb. 22.—Zion, prosperous city of the Christian Apostolic Church, ruled by Wilbur Glenn Voliva, has despaired of realizing the dream of its founder that it would grow into a great metropolitan religious center.

Because "people are not taking to religion as fast as Zion hoped," Phil explained. "There was no development can be confined to the corporate limits of the city of 6400 persons, has brought the decision to sell some of the outlying property to a Chicago real estate firm for $1000 an acre, Phil said. Voliva is now enjoying a vacation in the South.

SUN GIVES UP CAPITAL TO GET AID AT SHANGHAI

Defender of Port City Sees His Power Crumble and Makes Deal With Former Enemy.

Weeps as He Leaves Nanking, Provincial Capital and Attributes Defeat to Disloyalty of Officers.

By the Associated Press. SHANGHAI, Feb. 23.—Marshal Sun Chuan-fang, once overlord of five of the richest provinces in China, today surrendered Nanking, the capital of his last remaining state, to a former enemy in a desperate effort to prevent Shanghai and the important territory in Kiangsu province from falling into the hands of the Cantonese. Meanwhile, the city remained on edge as the result of being bombarded yesterday by a Chinese gunboat which attempted to shell his arsenal by firing over the metropolis. The guns were defective, and the shells fell short, five landing in the French concession and five in the Chinese section, killing two natives and damaging two American residences.

French Train Guns. Two French gunboats trained their guns on two other Chinese war craft which were nearby and which also were reported to have turned against Marshal Sun in favor of the Cantonese. The other two Chinese craft did not open fire, however, and a clash was averted. Recent events, including the capture of Hangchow by the Cantonese, the general strike in Shanghai and the bombardment incident, have caused Sun's power to crumble.

Gen. Chang Tsung-chang, military governor of Shantung province, formerly Sun's ally, but once his enemy, entered Nanking this morning and assumed control of the city preparatory to sending 30,000 Northern troops to the defense of Shanghai. The move was taken as an indication that Sun has practically been eliminated as a factor in the military situation, the general believing that Chang, while defending Shanghai, will oust Sun and take over his last remaining province, Kiangsu, of which Shanghai is the principal city.

Sun Charges Disloyalty. Nanking is 210 miles north and west of Shanghai. On entering the city, Chang was given control of the railroad leading southward, thus enabling him to use his Northern army in Shanghai's defense.

While the Manchurians pour in from the north city from falling into nationalist hands, defections continue to occur in Sun's ranks. Sun, in addressing a gathering of notables in Nanking prior to Chang's entry, wept, declaring that the disloyalty of his officers alone caused his defeat. Chang's army includes a Russian brigade, so called because it contains 1500 white Russians.

Movement of troops to Shanghai by the Powers to protect foreign lives and property continues. One thousand British marines, with this city as their ultimate destination, arrived in Hongkong this morning from England.

Deserters Arrive at Shanghai. Deserters and stragglers from the broken army of Marshal Sun Chuan-fang continued to arrive here in increasing numbers and rumors were that they were planning a wholesale looting of this city. French authorities strengthened the defenses about their concession.

The strike has abated appreciably. It is estimated that 30,000 of the 100,000 who were on strike yesterday have returned to work. The majority of the inside force at the postoffice went back and transportation services were nearing normal operations again. Probably as a result of protests by Chinese public bodies, public executions here have been stopped, but it is understood that several beheadings have taken place inside the military headquarters, adding to the execution list which previously numbered some 20 strike fomenters.

Marshal Sun is reported to have reached Shanghai from Nanking. The reports could not be confirmed.

Inside Story of How U. S. Was Kept Out of World Court by Blunder of Friends Who Had Votes to Win

Fatal Reservations Drafted by Lenroot, Swanson and John Bassett Moore Played Into Hands of "Irreconcilables."

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The inside story of how American participation in the World Court was defeated inadvertently by the very Senators who led the fight in behalf of it, is now being told on Capitol Hill. Rejection by Great Britain, France, Sweden, Holland and Finland of the conditions upon which the United States consented to join, and the prospect that all the remaining 37 member nations will do likewise, has destroyed all hope of American participation for the present.

The United States was kept out of the Court by men who were trying to put it in: that is certain.
Moreover, their ill-judged action was taken at a time when they had plenty of votes to insure membership on their own terms. It is an amazing story.

After three years of bitter strife,
the question of ratifying the Court protocol, and thus committing the United States to membership, approached a vote in the Senate in January of last year. In charge of the fight for ratification were Senators Lenroot (Rep.), Wisconsin, and Swanson (Dem.), Virginia.
The leaders of the opposition were Senators Borah (Rep.), Idaho; Moses (Rep.), New Hampshire, and Reed (Dem.), Missouri.

As often happens, the opposition had the better speaking talent, but the pro-Courts had the votes.
They had an ample surplus over the necessary two-thirds required for ratification.

The Fatal Reservation.
Three days before the date set for the vote, Senator Swanson, in behalf of the pro-Court majority, brought in a set of reservations, under which it was proposed that the United States should condition its adherence to the Court. Conspicuous among them was No. 5, which provided that the Court should not, without the consent of the United States, entertain any request for an advisory opinion upon any dispute in which the United States claimed an interest.

What happened then is best related by a Senator who was one of the most inescapable opponents of American participation.
"We could hardly believe our ears," he says. "Upon first hearing the reservation it seemed to us impossible that the member nations would accept us on such terms. We held a private conference and went over the language very carefully in search of some ambiguous phrase that might be used to give a different construction to the reservation. But when we had all studied it individually and collectively, we were unanimously of the opinion that the fifth reservation would give the United States an absolute power to veto the submission of any dispute to the Court which it did not want submitted. We were unanimously of the opinion that the other nations would never agree to grant the United States such a privilege."

Indeed, if we had been drafting a reservation designed to defeat American participation in the Court, we could not have produced one that suited us any better.

Played Into Enemy's Hands.
"The question before us was simply that of insuring the adoption of the reservation. We were afraid to welcome it, for fear the other side would withdraw it. We did not want to take any chances on its rejection. So we just said nothing and held our breath until it was adopted."

That the pro-Court majority were all unsuspecting, seems apparent from a recapitulation of what happened then. Senators Lenroot and Swanson spoke vigorously for the adoption of the reservations. One pro-Court Senator, Gillett of Massachusetts, did protest that the reservations went too far.

"In my opinion they are quite superfluous, and they make our adherence to the Court look somewhat suspicious and grudging," Gillett said. "However, I defer to the judgment of those who have the matter in charge, and presume they are right in thinking it politic to make the changes, although personally I regret it."

The vote on the adoption of the reservations was 90 to 1. Blaise of South Carolina casting the solitary negative vote out of sheer biliousness. But even the circumstance that all the "irreconcilables" had voted for adoption apparently did not serve as a warning to the pro-courts. When the protocol was ratified immediately thereafter, it was with the Swanson reservations.

"Secretly we shook hands," said the irreconcilable Senator quoted above. "We still felt that those who voted for adherence to the Court deserved a political lesson at the hands of the voters, and some of them were soon to get it. But we were entirely certain that the United States would never become a member of the Court."

Europe Solid Against Idea.
Events have justified that judgment in the fullest measure. When the 42 member nations met in October to consider the American reservations there was sentiment almost unanimous that to accept such a condition as that imposed by the fifth reservation would destroy the Court. Member nations were left to make their separate replies to the United States. The five rejections recorded thus far plainly indicate the nature of those forthcoming.

Why did Swanson and Lenroot draft the reservations? The answer is that they were trying to destroy the Court. Member nations were left to make their separate replies to the United States. The five rejections recorded thus far plainly indicate the nature of those forthcoming.

Old Issues Touched Lightly.

cidental mention of the League of illustrious statesmen of Missouri.

Former United States Senator

ter. He criticized the Coolidge administration for failure to keep its pledges, and declared it was time the "invisible government at ernment responsive to the welfare nounced his candidacy, but that the purpose of the meeting was to announce to the country that the Democracy of Missouri was

T. J. Madden of Kansas City said the Kansas City Democratic organization wanted the world to know that Reed was "a hell of a

"Always Made Good."

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 23.— Democrats from many sections of the State gathered here last night for a dinner given by the Cole County Reed-for-President Club to boon the candidacy of United States Senator James A. Reed for the Democratic presidential nomination.

They adopted resolutions, urged harmony, and endorsed plans to send a Missouri delegation to the 1928 National Convention in-

Senators Reed and Hawes of Missouri, and Senator Caraway of Arkansas, who had been invited as principal speakers, were unable to be here, but substitutes were provided whose commendation of Reed brought several ovations from the audience of about 700.

A resolution was adopted, at the suggestion of State Superintendent

a solid Missouri delegation for Reed in 1928.

It was a harmony meeting. Democrats who were bitterly anti-Reed

the lusty shouts each time Reed's

SEEKS KELLOGG'S VIEW ON INQUIRY IN LATIN-AMERICA

Administration Bloc Fears Borah's Proposed Action Might Hinder Coolidge Policy.

FILIBUSTER MAY BE ATTEMPTED ON FLOOR

Idaho Senator Wants Committee to Investigate Mexican and Nicaraguan Situation.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Administration Senators temporarily blocked action today on Senator Borah's proposal that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee go on tour this summer in Mexico and Nicaragua.

Taking the view that the administration should have an opportunity to say whether it thinks such a trip advisable in the present situation, these Senators put through a motion by which the committee directs Senator Borah, as chairman, to inquire whether Secretary Kellogg desires to appear and discuss the proposal. The resolution will be taken up in committee tomorrow.

In voicing their opposition, administration Senators expressed the view that a visit of a senatorial committee to the Central American republics just at this time might prove embarrassing to the State Department in its handling both of the Nicaraguan situation and the controversy with Mexico over oil and land laws.

Borah Accused Hostile.
Chairman Borah, under whose tutelage the trip would be made, is openly opposed to the administration's Nicaraguan policy, and has expressed sympathy for the Sacaca group, recognized by Mexico, which is opposing the Nicaraguan regime recognized by the United States.
The Senator also is counted a doubtful supporter of President Coolidge's policy toward Mexico.

Should Kellogg oppose Borah's resolution, administration Senators probably will undertake a filibuster on the Senate floor. A favorable committee report is expected, but only eight and a half legislative days remaining, opponents of the move might smother it by means of a filibuster.

Regarded as a fresh challenge to the administration's Central American policy, particularly with respect to Mexico and Nicaragua, the resolution was offered late yesterday by the committee's chairman, Senator Borah of Idaho, and immediately received the support of a coalition of Democrats and Republican insurgents.

"We want to find out the facts and keep informed," Borah said after he had offered the resolution, which would authorize the committee to spend $10,000 for expenses to visit such countries and to sit during the recess of Congress at such times and places as it deems advisable."

The Senator emphasized that conflicting reports from the troubled zones continue to arrive and said he hoped to obtain first-hand information.

Officials here do not anticipate any change in the situation that prompted the sending of additional naval forces to Nicaragua as a result of proposals of President Diaz for new treaty relations with the United States. Diaz's letter suggesting the new treaty is not expected to reach Washington until Congress adjourns, but if it arrived before, there is no chance, according to informed officials, of the administration presenting such a treaty to the present Senate.

Diaz's Proposed Treaty.
An outline of the proposal, made public in Managua last night by Diaz, disclosed that the United States is asked to protect the interests of Nicaragua for 100 years.
The Washington Government, under the plan, would retain the rights guaranteed by

Evolving State Income Tax.

WHAT seems to be wrong with the Missouri State income tax law? I specialize in the sale of accounting records, and in my line of business come in contact with all kinds of business men. I have covered about 80 per cent of the State of Missouri during the last two years, taking in all towns of any size from 500 up, and it is surprising to learn the small number of them, outside of the cities, who seem to know anything about the law, and I can conservatively say that 80 per cent of them have not been making returns to the State. I have found it different in the cities. I have worked Kansas City, St. Joe and nearly all of St. Louis, and I can conservatively say that 90 per cent of them have been filing returns. I realize, of course, that a great many of the business men did not come under the requirements to make returns, but I have reference to those who should have filed. Those who do know there is a State income tax law are under the impression that it only applies to corporations and wealthy people. In fairness to the cities, this law ought to be enforced or repealed.

The St. Louis Air Unit.

THE St. Louis Air Unit will be lost if proper appropriations are not made by Feb. 23. This unit has proved to be very valuable to St. Louis in many instances. How would our smoke commissioner make his observations if it were not for this air unit? Time and time again this unit has come to the front to offer its services for the benefit of the city. It is in dire need of armory facilities.

Come on, St. Louisans, show your spirit. Support the unit and don't let the city lose such an invaluable asset.

ONE WHO KNOWS.

What Detroit Has Done.

THE bill introduced in the Board of Aldermen by Alderman Lange to require busses to be equipped with pneumatic tires is sound. The city of Detroit, which is successfully operating its own street car and bus systems, in a highly efficient manner, has recently placed in operation the last word in motor busses. These new busses are double-decked, with upper deck and stairway, entirely inclosed. They are four-wheelers and equipped with pneumatic tires. They are operated by one man, the rear door (for exit) being controlled with safety devices by the driver. They have four-wheel brakes, they are leather upholstered.

The people of St. Louis should know of this modern bus. St. Louis should have them at once, now that they are a proven success and some other city went to the expense of experimenting. Alderman Lange should go to Detroit and see these new busses on the streets there. He would find substantial support for his bill.

J. A. MANLEY.

An Up-to-Date Symbol.

THE "St. Louis to the front" statue on Art Hill, while a fine piece of work, does not at all typify St. Louis "as he is."

Let's replace it with a heroic figure and slogan that is really emblematic of our "fair" city.

L. WHISER.

Watch Your Representatives.

YOUR editorial of Feb. 18 upon the legislative procedure in the matter of killing some very important amendments in our criminal practice is a just and timely criticism. Too long we have been indifferent as to what our representatives were putting into or omitting from our statutes. And just this sort of indifference by the people has caused numerous obnoxious laws to find their place in our codes, while laws which would abate crime are killed. If there is one thing today that is the protection of the citizen's life, liberty and property from the violence of the law breaker and this can be done only by enactment of just laws and a rigid enforcement of the same.

You cannot expect the people too often or too earnestly to keep a vigilant eye on their representatives.

GOOSE QUILL.

Crowd In or Stand and Wait.

WONDER if the person signing himself a compressed patron ever waited for a bus on a cold corner between 5 and 6 o'clock in the evening only to be passed up several times flat because there was no seating room on the single-deck bus? Perhaps then he could appreciate how very kind it is for the busses to allow standing.

Not long ago I was coming west on a single-deck Kingshighway bus and it was packed to overflowing. I silently marveled at the big heartedness of the driver. A PLEASED BUS PATRON.

IMPERILING FREE SPEECH.

A corollary of American education that brands Jane Addams "the most dangerous woman in the country," and proscribes, among others, Dean Pound of the Harvard Law School is a positive menace. This is what the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, which has officers of the army stationed at colleges and universities all over the country, has become. It is a peril to free speech and thought in a country which vouchsafes these rights to its citizens by constitutional guarantee. Any thought departing from that of these professional soldiers is termed subversive.

There have been reports from many parts of the country that R. O. T. C. instructors are abusing their contact with students, but the Post-Dispatch has found one at home that is a sufficient index to them all. At Washington University both Maj. Ralph E. Wilson, in charge of student military training, and Capt. R. E. Turley, professor of military science, have been telling their students how we are threatened by pacifists and bolsheviks, as well as who are safe and unsafe in our public life.

It was Capt. Turley who made the unwarranted estimate of Miss Addams. Both he and Maj. Wilson have been stuffing their students with the nonsense that the country is in peril from overzealous religionists preaching pacifism and impracticable humanitarianism advocating communism. When their town campus engaged Kirby Page, a New York editor, and Sherwood Eddy, a Y. M. C. A. worker, to speak before the students, these self-constituted censors of the public forum in St. Louis warned their classes against both.

"We wanted the boys to know the facts about these men," Maj. Wilson said to the Post-Dispatch. "We figured, too, that we might as well tell them about the widespread bolshevistic movement in this country." One of the theses worked out in a session of the class on military science was that the presence of Madame Kollant, Soviet Ambassador, as near to us as Mexico constitutes a real peril to the United States.

This sort of thing makes the army and the R. O. T. C. ridiculous. It will make education ridiculous if it is permitted to continue. If American institutions are so devoid of merit that they cannot withstand discussion, they cannot be saved by rattling the saber around our colleges and universities. It is, moreover, highly improper for the army to intervene in civil affairs.

BEAU GESTE'S "AUNT PAT."

They are a dear family group when you meet them. Beau, Doby and John and Isobel of the flaxen curls, sailing their boats, playing at Vikings through the long, fair days of childhood, in their lovely English home. And there's Aunt Pat.

The years speed by—15 of them. Beau and the brothers are young men now. Isobel a delightful debutante. What of Aunt Pat? Save for a brush of obviously powdered gray in the hair, grudgingly conceded to the harsh requirements of the verities, time and the tragedies of time enacted in the shambles of the Sahara have left no marring trace. Aunt Pat, as of course you know, is Alice Joyce, who refuses to grow old at the behest of art or anno domini. Are we presuming to criticize Alice Joyce? Heavens, no! We are congratulating her. Her beauty gloriously justifies her in whatever she does or omits to do.

CLEVELAND'S ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The Gibraltarlike character of Grover Cleveland, the durable quality of his presidential service, is impressively reflected in the public attitude towards Judson Harmon of Ohio, whose death at the age of 81 occurred yesterday.

In his long, distinguished career Mr. Harmon filled many offices, appointive and elective. But it was not of the Judge or the Governor or the special investigator that the public thought when his name was mentioned. It was as Cleveland's Attorney-General that Judson Harmon has held secure place in public esteem.

The experience—by no means unique—emphasizes the truth that the political hatreds of emotional hours are happily fleeting. The second Cleveland administration concluded its labors in a tempest of vilification, in which Democrats joined quite as lustily as Republicans. Those indictments have long since been quashed. Cleveland and the men associated with him did not have to wait for posterity to do them justice. History had already begun its correct appraisal while many of them were still here to appreciate the reversal. In no instance was the final verdict more generous than in that of Judson Harmon. His own State made handsome reparation by electing him Governor and in more than one campaign his availability as a presidential candidate was accepted by his party.

It cannot be said that he was ever a formidable contender for the nomination. The most that can be claimed is that the compliment of honorable mention was paid him. But if in the mutations of politics he had been nominated and elected there can be no doubt that his administration would have been a substantial record of duty faithfully performed in genuine accord with the Constitution.

MR. COOLIDGE SURPASSES HIMSELF.

We all knew that George Washington was the father of his country, but it took Mr. Coolidge to discover that he was a big business man and a member of the President's own set.

Subtlety is not characteristic of Mr. Coolidge, but as he developed this side of the first President in his Washington birthday address he plainly warmed up to it. He was, indeed, upon that familiar ground over which he has worked with so many callers at the White House and in so many Cabinet meetings. Therefore, as a speech it was much better than some others Mr. Coolidge has made when he was upon unfamiliar ground.

He got away with it nicely. The country, we are quite sure, has a much more material conception of Washington than it has had hitherto. He was not only first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen; he would also have been the first man into Nicaragua, and he would have been the first to fight Mexico in defense of an oil claim. It was well done. It gave Washington added distinction, and it gave big business in the White House the sanction of distinguished precedent. Mr. Mellon must have enjoyed it almost more than anybody. It made him feel that he is maintaining a great tradition.

Mr. Coolidge surpassed himself.

MUSSOLINI, FRANCE AND DISARMAMENT.

Italy's refusal to join in President Coolidge's plans for a new disarmament conference will not surprise anyone who is even moderately well informed regarding the nature and history of the Mussolinian dictatorship. To one who has watched its sword-rattling and observed the formation of its imperialistic designs, the inevitability of its refusal to play the game of peace was apparent from the first.

It is those designs indeed, which account chiefly for the reluctance of France to co-operate with us in the worthy plan which the President has outlined. Mussolini has well capitalized the two grievances which post-war Italy has against her northwesterly neighbor—the belief that France was responsible for the Italian failure to obtain more benefits at the Versailles conference, and the conviction that French colonial expansion in Northern Africa and the Mediterranean are obstacles to legitimate Italian aspirations.

These grievances of the Italian people he has employed to further his own mad dreams of Caesarian conquest. He would rule, as did the tyrants of old, over a Mediterranean empire of his very own. But, looking across the sea which he would make his own, he observes the French in possession of Tunis, of Algeria, and of Morocco. Before he can establish the domain which he has envisaged in his imagination, he must, therefore, dispose of France. Hence he tries to flood Tunis with Italians, attempts to detach Jugo-Slavia from the Francophile Little Entente, and later endeavors to replace France in that alliance.

So far he has been able to escape the usual fate of all bullying sword rattlers by reason of the facts that Europe is tired of war, that Italy seems to be much stronger and more united behind her dictator than she actually is, and that he is very skillful in his employment of the threat of war. But neither France nor any other power, however loath it may be to go to war—and France has shown a less militaristic and imperialistic attitude lately—will indefinitely tolerate the tactics which the Italian dictator persists in using. France is determined that, when the hour for action comes, she will not be unprepared.

The action of both France and Italy toward the invitation of President Coolidge merely proves what the world already knows—namely, that as long as Mussolini remains in power there will be no real disarmament because there will be no relief from the threat of war.

MR. CHILD'S FORTE.

In a vein of elephantine satire, Richard Washburn Child in the Saturday Evening Post undertakes to defend the policy of Messrs. Coolidge and Kellogg in Nicaragua. Mr. Child is the man who was Mr. Harding's Ambassador to Rome and who is now acting as informal apologist for the Coolidge administration. Originally he came to notice as a writer of fiction and, after reading what he has to say about Nicaragua, one must conclude that fiction still is his forte.

KLAN COLLAPSE IN NORTH CAROLINA.

That news is sometimes stranger than fiction is proved by the Associated Press dispatch from Raleigh, N. C., that 66 of the 86 chapters of the Ku Klux Klan have surrendered their charters, amounting to a veritable collapse of the organization in that State, and that Judge Henry A. Grady of the Superior Court, for four years "grand dragon" of the State, has resigned. This right on the heels of the news that the klan-controlled government of Alabama was busy ousting Catholics from all State offices.

The debacle in North Carolina was due, it is said, to an attempt of klan leaders to "obtain by subterfuge" the enactment of laws that would have made membership in the Catholic Church or the Knights of Columbus a felony, and forbidden marriages between Catholics and Protestants where an agreement was entered into as to the rearing of children.

The klan attempt in North Carolina appears to exemplify the truth of the adage "whom the gods would destroy they first make mad." It evidently shocked Judge Grady and large numbers of klan members. It should serve as a warning to Gov. Bibb and his Alabama co-conspirators.

Mr. Coolidge's tribute to Washington: No frills. No thrills.

THE GIRL AND THE SOUP, WE SING.

To those romanticists of the faded days when knighthood was in flower—to those poor old doxies who yet gallantly contend that woman's place is in the sheltered sanctuary of the home, far from the madding crowd's ignoble strife—to all such shreds and tatters of conceited masculinity we beg to present Miss Elinor Dorrance.

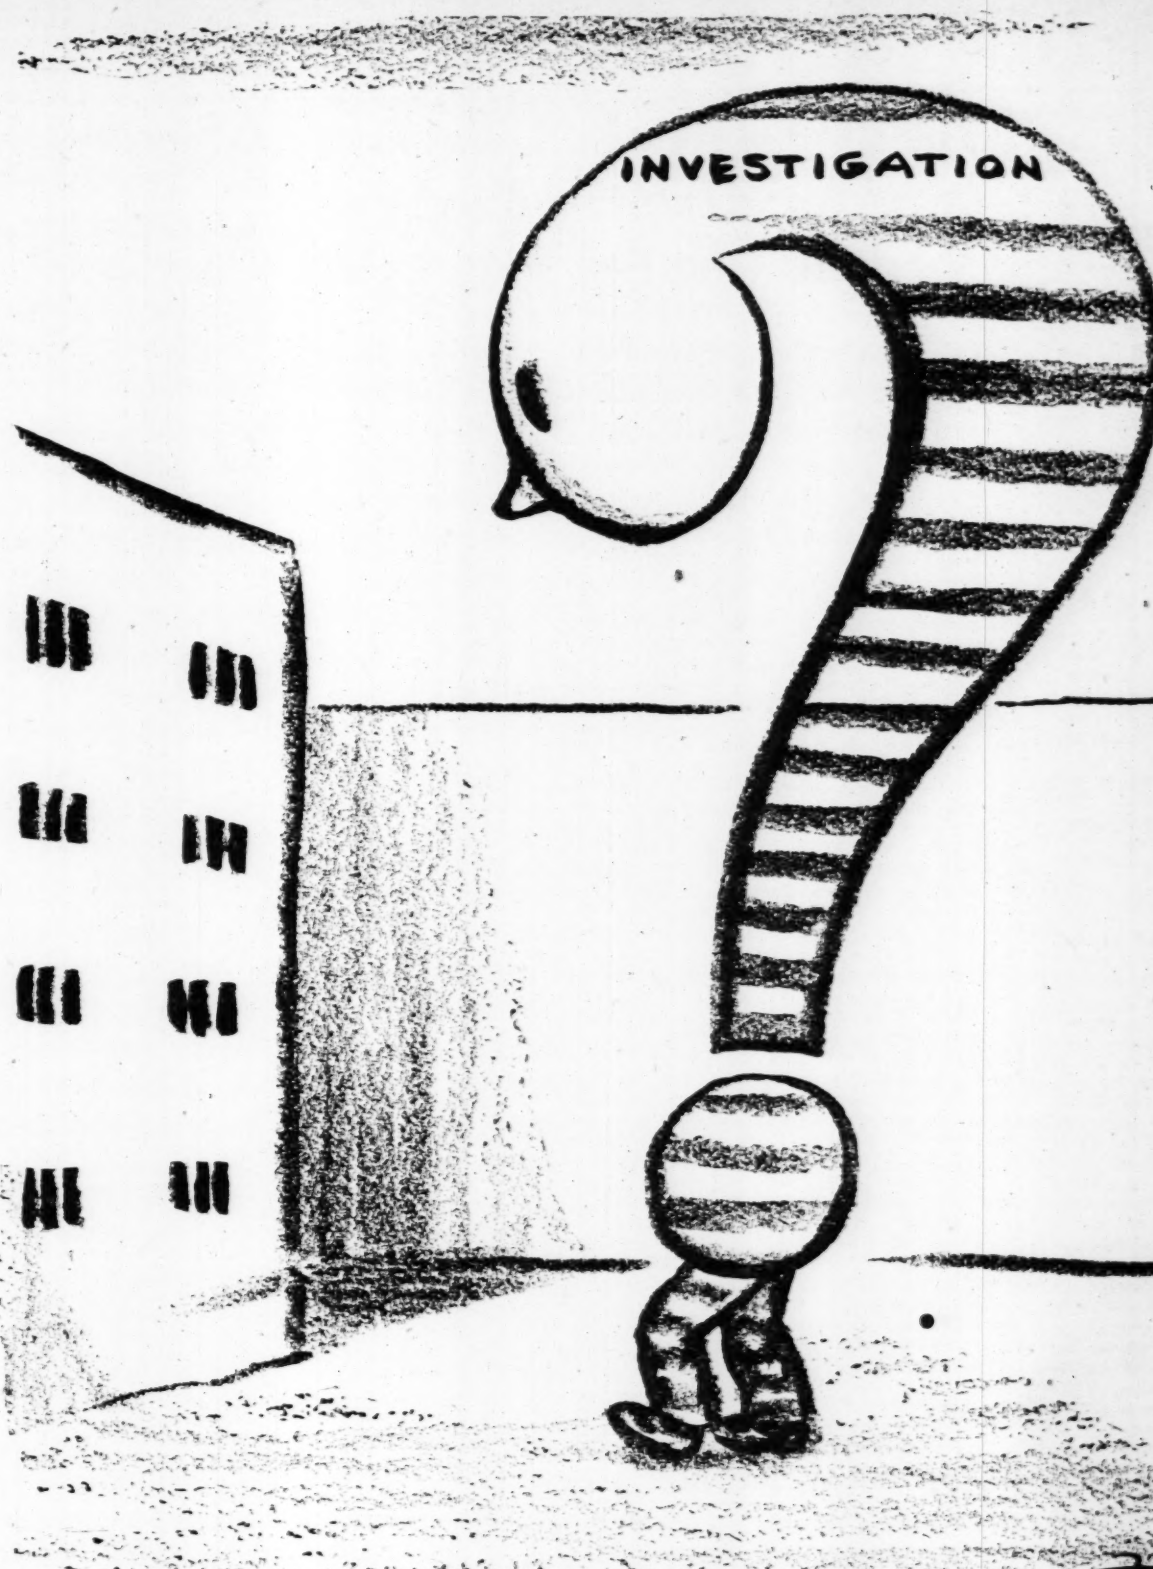

There's a girl. Daughter of a Capuan who has assembled heaven knows how many millions by putting soup on every table of our blessed land, she might have winged her flight from spa to starchy spa, a shimmering butterfly, a dazzling apparition, a corkerina. What did she do? Tossing a farewell kiss to the sliken ways and perfumed days of wealth's idleness, she gracefully slid down the banister to the foot of the staircase—we mean the bottom of the ladder—and commenced the slow, laborious, toilsome upward climb.

Her watchword was: I shall know soup. Every dream of soup, every heart-throb of soup, every peccadillo of soup, every proud aspiration of soup—I shall come and see and conquer.

That was long ago—three long, heroic, interminable months ago. That was away back in the dim, dim November of 1926. What rebuffs, what disappointments, what agonizing temptations our heroine has endured we shall never, never know. But all of us know that heaven is not reached by a single bound. All of us know that, if beyond the Alps lie Italy, those same Alps are something of a hurdle. Ask Hannibal. Ask Attila. Ask Napoleon. Ask Mr. Foster.

But where did we leave Elinor? Oh, yes. At the bottom of the ladder. Where is she now? Every secret of the tureen is hers. Every ingredient of the bouillabaisse is in her compact. The caprices of the flora, the prejudices of the fauna, she knows them all. The kid is there. She has just got back from Europe, where she went on a business trip for the firm. From factory hand to international buyer in 90 days. That is the epic written by this damsel on the hard-boiled papirus of American business.

Broadcast it in Gath. Blare the moral down the streets of Ascalon: Woman's place is in the soup.

THE NEW INMATE AT JEFFERSON CITY.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

CRIMINAL CODE REFORM.

JUDGES on the bench will have more leeway and criminal lawyers less, if the criminal code proposed to Michigan's Legislature by the Michigan Crime Commission is put into effect by that State. According to the proposed code many practices often complained of both as delaying and defeating justice are abolished or changed. For example, informations shall not be quashed or dismissed or convictions set aside because of defects, after arraignment, and informations may be amended during trial. The prosecution and defense will have the same number of peremptory challenges. Continuances shall not be granted unless a manifest injustice would otherwise be done. When the defense is to be an alibi or insanity, the prosecution shall have four days' advance notice and the names and addresses of defendant's witnesses. In the main these recommendations to the Michigan Legislature by the Michigan Crime Commission are along the line of recent criticisms of court procedure. If in practice they do not handicap the innocent too severely, in comparison with existing codes, they will bring about the expedition of trials and the greater certainty of justice that the public has been demanding of the law and the courts.

REFUGE FOR WILD FOWL.

CREATION of bird sanctuaries throughout the country, where wild fowl may nest and feed in safety, is proposed in a Federal game-refuge bill, and sportsmen are recommending its adoption to check the rapid decrease in the number of birds. The plan includes the establishment of public shooting grounds, adjacent to the preserves. According to experts, ducks in the Western part of the country are threatened with extinction unless ways are found to combat a form of paralysis which affects them after drinking contaminated water. This disease is widespread near Great Salt Lake. It afflicts other marsh birds as well as ducks, and when least prevalent takes a toll of 20,000 to 100,000 yearly, while more than 1,000,000 ducks alone are killed in the worst years. The salts in the waters have made them poisonous to the fowl. The malady does not prove fatal if the birds can get fresh water in time.

EUROPEAN MONOPOLIES.

INVESTIGATIONS by the Department of Commerce show that there are already in existence nine strong and dangerous European combinations designed to maintain excessive prices on long-staple cotton, camphor, coffee, iodine, nitrates, potash, mercury, rubber and steel. During the past fiscal year the United States imports of these nine commodities exceeded $1,000,000,000.

In addition to the monopolies on these nine commodities, the Department says there are between 20 and 20 other commodities which the United States is compelled to import and which could likewise be controlled by foreign government action.

NO FUN LIKE WORK.

THIS is the day of the mature in years and the vigorous in health. The Biblical three score years and ten no longer limits human activities, nor in every case is four score years accompanied by labor and sorrow. Men today cling to activity longer than formerly. Judge Gary rejects the renewed suggestions that he is about to retire, and gives evidence by vigorous conduct of the United States Steel Corporation of his ability to continue in active work. Edison's eightieth birthday recently was only another working day, so busy is the wizard of Menlo Park in delving for the mysteries of nature. Sir Thomas Lipton, who is not as old as Gary or Edison, but still well above the Biblical deadline, and who says "there is no fun like work," protests that he is still active in the affairs of his great American company, notwithstanding his retirement from his English activities, and is coming over here soon to prove it. In the meanwhile, he tells the English reporters that he is building another yacht to contest for the America's cup. . . . Sir Thomas Lipton is a same old sport, and, like Gary, Edison and many other busy men who are well along in years, feels that activity prolongs life. May he and all the others who work hard in the evening of life long continue to be examples of vigor, mental alertness and happiness. Here's long life to them all.

MILKING IS GOOD.

PROGRESSIVE farmers in the East are now milking their cows three times a day and declare that the extra attention pays. That sounds like an idea that came from Wall Street.

JOHN S. NEIMARD

Layman and His World

By Horatio V. Gard. Gold-Rule Magazine Co., Chicago. R. GARD describes his work as "a brief interpretation of a man's creation, his psychology, his destiny, with suggestions of his practical application of the laws." It is a large order, and for that reason the majority of reviewers are likely to ignore the book or to treat it as a reviewer's treatise. It is the opinion of this reviewer that the book deserves a better reception than it will have, not because it is a brief interpretation of a man's creation, but because it is a book that gives the reader a new way of looking at the world. It is a book that is likely to be read by a large number of people who are not usually interested in psychology. PICKPOCKET PRISONER BOASTS OF HIS SKILL

Ralph La Bee, Captured Robbing Fred T. Kunt on Car, Admits He's Stolen $25,000.

A talkative pickpocket entertained detectives at Headquarters this morning with demonstrations of his methods and tall tales of how much he had stolen in the last six years and how much he has paid police of various cities in bribes.

His name, he says, is Ralph La Bee, age 25, and his home Chicago. He was arrested at 8 p. m. Monday after lifting 20 one-dollar bills from the pocket of Fred T. Kunt, secretary of the Kieselhorst Piano Co., 1007 Olive street, aboard a Belleville interurban car at the west entrance to Eads Bridge.

Kunt felt the bills moving from his left hip pocket and marked La Bee as the man who had jostled him. He notified the car crew detectives were summoned and the bills were found tucked in La Bee's trousers' waistband.

"Here's the way I worked that," La Bee said, producing a folded newspaper. He sidled up to a reporter and held the newspaper in such a way as to prevent the "victim" from seeing his side trousers-pocket. La Bee's deft fingers went into the pocket and came out empty.

"Twenty-five thousand dollars—wouldn't begin to total what I've stolen in the last six years," La Bee boasted. "I've worked almost every big city in the United States. I've spent a fortune fixing cases with the police." He pleased Chief Gerk, who talked to him, by adding:

"St. Louis is a tough nut to crack. Cities with home rule are easier. The police under home rule have to graft to get by and fellows like me can buy our way out of any jam. I've been in lots of jams, but I've never done any time. I'm off of this stuff now though. It's too expensive keeping out of jail."

A warrant will be asked today against La Bee.

FIVE NEWSPAPER MEN SERVE DAY IN JAIL FOR CONTEMPT

Sentenced in Baltimore for Photographing Scenes of Whittemore Murder Trial.

By the Associated Press. BALTIMORE, Feb. 23.—Three editors and two photographers have left the city jail after having served sentences of one day each for contempt of court in connection with publication of pictures of the Richard Reese Whittemore murder trial last summer. They were Harold Elliston, former managing editor of the Baltimore News; Harry Clark, former city editor of the News; Earl C. DeLand, managing editor of the Baltimore American; and William Sturm and William Klemm, photographers for the two papers.

Judge O'Dunne, who had sentenced them, said that "these cases were thrust upon me in a sudden emergency arising out of the trial of the Whittemore case. It required prompt and decisive action. Very able lawyers had grave doubts both as to the legality of the action and as to the right of appeal. The Baltimore News and American were honest in their desire to test both of these legal questions. They have done so."

MINERS MEET SECRETLY AS COAL OPERATORS QUIT PARLEY

Each Side of Wage Conference Blames the Other for Failure to Reach Agreement.

By the Associated Press. MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 23.—Coal miners and operators in the Central bituminous field blame each other for failure to agree on a wage to replace the contract which expires March 31.

A secret meeting of the United Mine Workers' Policy Committee—described as a formality and of no significance—was scheduled as the final gesture in the series of conferences which failed to harmonize the difference separating those who represent some 300,000 miners and hundreds of operators. Although the committee had jurisdiction over whatever action the miners may take, members said last night that a public statement was not to be expected. Delegates representing the operators had quit the scene.

No indication was given that the parleys would be resumed. Unless some agreement is effected, the miners will quit work March 31.

Separate Prison for Dangerous.

By the Associated Press. JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 23.—The Senate today passed Senator Wammack's bill authorizing the building of a separate prison to house hardened criminals in the State penitentiary. The measure was recommended by Gov. Baker in his message. Four minor bills sponsored by the Missouri Association for Criminal Justice also were passed, as were several measures recommended by the Missouri Bankers' Association. They provide that banks and trust companies may be appointed as liquidating agents for closed banks; increase the force of bank examiners from 25 to 40, with salary increases; increase capital requirements for a new bank from $10,000 to $15,000, and place restrictions on loans to officers of banks.

WASHBOARD-rubbing means friction—wearing down—tearing down—grating away the fibre of your clothes! One washboard rubbing is harder on them than ten days of ordinary wear.

You who use the washboard—

You don't grate your clothes because you like to. You don't rub aches into your back because you like them. But your ideals of cleanliness are high, so you keep to the hard way because it seems the only sure way!

There is an easy sure way, too!

Chipso proves itself before your eyes. Here is what you do to get Chipso results:

Pour Chipso's clean thin soap flakes into the tub. Run hot water over them. They dissolve instantly in bounteous suds. (No soap chipping or preparation of soap powders). Cool the water to hand temperature. Plunge the clothes in—and forget them for twenty minutes—or more if you like—while you do some morning task. When you come back, the buoyant suds have done the work. They have loosened the dirt! Squeeze the sudsy water through the clothes a few times; rub the bad spots lightly between your hands, and you are through! And your clothes are as clean and sweet-scented as you've ever had!

The blue-and-orange boxes of Chipso are big and cost little. The large one contains enough soap for 6 to 8 washings—at a cost of 3¢ to 4¢ each.

TENSION BETWEEN KING AND RADICAL FASCISTS GROWING

This Is Back of Movement to Preserve Royal Prerogatives, With Mussolini as Dictator.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News, Copyright, 1927. ROME, Feb. 23. (By courier to Switzerland)—The proposal to define permanently the relative positions of King Victor Emmanuel and Dictator Mussolini in the new Fascist state, as reported by a previous dispatch, was necessitated by the increasing friction between the royalists and the militant fascists in the last three months.

These conditions are not due to personal hostility to the King or to the overweening ambition of Mussolini, but rather to the inevitable consequences of the Duke's rise to absolute power in a country where the King nominally is supreme head of the government.

King's Objections. Details of this tension have been carefully guarded. It was known that the King objected to signing the death penalty law passed by both houses of Parliament. The King had previously supported all of Mussolini's gestures and signed promptly all decrees sent to him. But he flatly refused to sign away the right of his subjects to appeal to him under the defense of state law.

Coolness between the King and the Fascists was first noticed publicly when the King was absent from the religious ceremonies on Armistice day and later was absent from the governmental commemoration of the anniversary of the Queen Mother's death. He also refused to sign the decree depriving former Premier Nitti of citizenship. Apparently the extreme Fascist took alarm at this.

The alleged republican Fascist plot to dethrone the King last December did not get far, but the King's subsequent adequate measures of defense against any possible coup. Under the Italian constitution the army is under direct orders of the King and unquestionably it is loyal to him, especially Gen. Badoglio, Chief of Staff.

One Plan Checked. Last month the Cabinet approved a law creating a "chief of the general staff" dependent on the ministries of national defense (all held by Mussolini) and reducing Gen. Badoglio's office to a subordinate technical one. Mussolini was appointed to the new office, but the appointment was quickly revoked—following, it is said, representations by the chief army Generals—and Gen. Badoglio was given the post.

If any of the extreme Fascists cherished the hope that the army would side with them in an attempt to diminish further the King's prerogatives, their hopes were shattered. But the friction has become sufficiently acute to necessitate a radical compromise.

It is this compromise—including the appointment of Mussolini as Chancellor for life and the partial return to a liberal government—which the wiser heads of both factions are endeavoring to promote.

Masked Men Hold Up Drug Store. Two men wearing masks and carrying revolvers compelled William Mackie, proprietor of a drug store at 6121 Plymouth avenue, and two customers to lie on the floor of the store last night at 10:40 o'clock while they took $25 from a cash register.

constabulary officered by United States Marines.

If after a 10-year period it became necessary to prevent a political uprising, American officers would have the privilege of taking control of the constabulary.

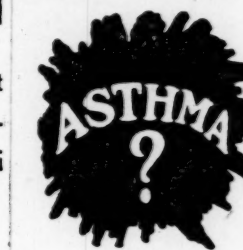

Nicaragua would not enter a treaty with or lease or sell territory to a foreign power other than the United States without the consent of the United States.

Vaca Assails Latimer's Policy. Attacking the American occupation of the Corinto-Managua Railroad, Dr. T. S. Vaca, confidential agent in Washington of the Nicaraguan Liberal faction, said last night that it indicated Diaz's strength had "reached its lowest ebb, and his tottering regime needs to be propped by Latimer's forces." "This railroad," he added, "belongs entirely to Nicaragua without encumbrance of any sort, but it is prospective American property, plans being already on foot by the New York financiers backing Diaz, to secure control of it in their own terms, in the course of current year."

Fighting Prohibited Within 2000 Yards of Marine Encampment. By the Associated Press. MANAGUA, Feb. 23. — Fighting between Conservatives and Liberals within 2000 yards of where United States Marines and blue-jackets are posted is interdicted by orders issued by Rear Admiral Latimer, in charge of the United States naval squadron in Nicaraguan waters.

Some 200 marines were completing preparations today to take over the fortress of Loma. Conservative stronghold on a high hill overlooking Managua, in order to afford further protection for the marine encampment and the American Legation. The coastal and interior sections of Nicaragua remained quiet, after Monday's trouble at Masaya. 20 miles from Managua. A few regular soldiers maintained with unwilling Conservative conscripts, and, having on their side several Masaya policemen, shot at Conservative recruits. There was a brief fight which resulted in five deaths and seven men injured. The mutiny was quelled without machines being called on the scene.

ST. LOUIS ROTARY CLUB FOUNDED 22 YEARS AGO IN CHICAGO

Originators Have Lived to See Organization Grow to Membership of 125,000. CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—The four original Rotarians lay claim to no fame, but their names will be spoken around the world twenty-two years ago this evening.

On Feb. 23, 1905—Gus Loehr, a coal merchant, and Paul Harris met in the office of the first Rotary Club. Harris was a lawyer here, Loehr a partner in a law firm. They were the originators of the Rotary Club, which has grown to a membership of 125,000 in 38 countries. Harris is president emeritus of the International, and he and Loehr are still active members of the original Chicago club. Commemorative meetings in every city in which the club has spread are being held in honor of its birthday.

Have Nice White Hands In Winter

Many women have recently learned to have soft, pretty, white hands in winter, regardless of the work they have to do. Many of our girls have beautiful, pretty, white hands because they have learned how to care for them at a little cost. The secret is rubbing a little Ice-Mint into the hands occasionally preferably before retiring at night. In the morning you will be pleasantly surprised at the pleasant transformation that has been wrought by even a single application. Ice-Mint is from a Japanese product that is simply marvelous for its beauty properties whether used on hands or face. Regardless of the kind of work a woman does, she should have pretty hands as a matter of course. A few applications of Mint will actually make any woman proud of her hands and skin. It is little and is sold and recommended by good druggists everywhere.

WOMAN BURNED BY ACID IN STENCH BOMB

Missile Thrown Into Office of Cleaning Concern From Auto Ruins Many Garments.

Police have been instructed to renew their vigilance in guarding cleaning and dyeing establishments as the result of the injury of Mrs. Lilly Suntrup, 59 years old, who was burned on the face with acid at 6 p. m. yesterday, when a stench bomb was thrown through the window of a branch office of the Star Dyeing and Cleaning Co., at 4150 West Florissant avenue.
Mrs. Suntrup and her daughter, Mrs. Amelia Meakfessel, manager of the branch, said the bomb was thrown from an automobile occupied by three men. Mrs. Suntrup, who lives in the rear of the store with her daughter, was treated by a neighborhood physician. Clothing and fixtures in the place were damaged $150 by acid from the bomb.

Union Employees Locked Out.
Sixty employees of the Star Dyeing and Cleaning Co., as has been told, were locked out of the concern's plant at 2515 North Grand boulevard Monday morning because of union affiliations. Monday evening John Hogan, an inspector for the company, was assaulted by a union picket as he left the plant. Within the last several months police have received several complaints of acid being thrown on clothing in cleaning company delivery trucks, but it has not been established whether this resulted from labor disputes or the "price war" between organized and independent cleaners.

Officers of the Cleaners, Dyers & Pressers Union are continuing their efforts to organize employees in the plants of retail cleaning establishments despite the lockout at the Child's Death Accidental.

A coroner's verdict of accident was returned today in the case of Tomasso Picarella 37, 12 years old, who was fatally injured at 3:30 p. m. Monday, when he fell under a rear wheel of a delivery truck from which he attempted to alight at Garfield and Vandeventer avenues. The boy's father, who was on his way to the Bates Public School, to meet his son, a fourth-grade pupil, saw the accident. The driver, Delany Dorn, 19, of 3621 Garfield avenue, testified he was unaware the boy was on the truck until he heard him scream when injured. The Picarella home is at 3320 Garfield avenue, a block from the scene of the accident.

Former East St. Louis Grocer Dies.
Michael O'Day, retired grocer and twice a member of the Board of Aldermen of East St. Louis, died at his residence, 2923 Virginia avenue, East St. Louis, yesterday. He was 65 years old, and had been ill for several months. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth O'Day; two sons, James and Edward, and one daughter, Mrs. P. H. Murphy. Funeral services will be held from St. Regis' Catholic Church at 8:30 a. m. Friday. Burial will be in Mount Carmel Cemetery.

Star Co. and at Scott's Cleaning Co., 3329 Olive street, where 50 employees were refused admittance to the plant yesterday because they had joined the union.

The 18 wholesale cleaning companies, employing 300 workers, have recognized the union, but only two of the 23 retail cleaners, having a total of 900 employees, have permitted unionization in their plants.

The Retail Cleaners & Dyers' Association is presenting united opposition to the union. These employers recently granted wage increases of from 50 cents to $2 weekly to some employees. Wages in the retail plants range from $14 to $27 weekly. Union leaders so far have made no wage demands.

44-Hour Week Wins in Australia.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Feb. 23.—The Federal Arbitration Court, by a majority vote, decided today in favor of a 44-hour week for the Amalgamated Engineering Union, as against the present 48-hour week. The case was regarded as a test one, and the outcome is hailed as a victory for labor.

70,249 PERSONS PAID BULK OF 1924 U. S. INCOME TAX

Less Than One Per Cent of the 7,024,912 Making Returns Carried 78 Per Cent of Burden.

HEAVY CUT IN LEVY IN SEVEN YEARS

In 1918 It Was $1,128,000,000, in 1924 $704,000,000 Industrial Conference Board Reports.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Less than 1 per cent of the 7,024,912 persons making Federal income tax returns paid 78 per cent, or nearly four-fifths, of the entire personal income tax levied by the Federal Government in 1924, according to an analysis contained in the forthcoming report of the National Industrial Conference Board. On the other hand, 84 per cent of those filing income tax returns in that year paid less than 8 per cent of the total personal income tax. These and the following figures, exclude all returns reporting incomes of less than $1,000. The combined net income reported by individuals in 1924 was approximately $25,421,000,000. Of this sum, the 70,249 persons with annual incomes of $25,000 or more, who represent the less than 1 per cent paying 78 per cent of the total tax, received only 15.3 per cent. But the 4,526,874 persons with incomes ranging from $1,000 to $25,000 who represent the 84 per cent paying less than 8 per cent of the total tax, received 84.8 per cent of the total reported amount of personal incomes. Nearly half of the latter group were entirely exempt from income tax.

Those with annual incomes ranging from $500 to $1,000 constituting 25.6 per cent of the total number of those making returns in 1924, received 28.9 per cent of the total amount of incomes reported, and paid 3.5 per cent of the personal income tax levy. Nine per cent of those making returns reported net incomes ranging from $500 to $1,000, received 23 per cent of the total amount of incomes reported, and paid 15.2 per cent of the total amount of personal income tax.

Comparison With 1918. While the total number of personal tax returns of $1,000 or more in 1918 was 4,425,114, it was 7,024,912 in 1924. Those reporting net incomes of $1,000 up to $500 constituted about nine-tenths of all those making returns in both these years, but while they numbered 3,948,132 in 1918, they numbered 4,526,874 in 1924. Those constituting the "upper tenth" with incomes of $5,000 and over numbered 478,962 in 1918 and 697,138 in 1924. Those with incomes below $500 in 1918 paid an average of $36.70 tax, including those entirely exempt; in 1924, they paid an average of only $7.51. Those in the upper group paid an average of $205.2 in 1918, but in 1924, an average of only $94.2. Relatively the greatest tax relief in 1924 was received by those having annual incomes of from $100 to $500, whose proportional tax burden was roughly cut one-half, but the relative burden of those reporting net incomes ranging from $500 upwards was proportionately increased. While the total number of persons making income returns increased from 4,425,114 in 1918 to 7,024,912 in 1924, the proportion of those reporting annual net incomes from $25,000 up was the same in both years—about 1 per cent.

Large Increase in Incomes. The combined net incomes of all those making returns in 1918 was $15,923,900,000, as against $25,421,000,000 in 1924, while the total of personal income tax levied in 1918 was $1,128,000,000, as against $704,000,000 in 1924. The proportion of persons with incomes ranging from $1,000 to $25,000 decreased from 83.1 per cent of all those making returns in 1918 to 84.4 per cent in 1924, and they received 36.8 per cent of the total of income reported in 1918 as against 34.8 per cent in 1924. But their relative tax burden, that is the proportion of the total income tax paid by them was reduced from 5.5 per cent in 1918 to 2.9 per cent in 1924.

Persons with incomes ranging from $3,000 up to $5,000 in 1918 constituted 21.1 per cent of all those making returns, as against 19.8 in 1924. They received in 1918 22.5 per cent of the total amount of net income reported, as against 26.9 per cent in 1924, while their relative tax burden declined from 7.3 per cent in 1918 to 1.8 per cent of the total tax levied in 1924.

The proportion of persons with incomes ranging from $5,000 up to $25,000 declined from 9.8 per cent in 1918 to 9 per cent in 1924, while their share of all groups declined from 34.4 per cent in 1918 to 23 per cent in 1924. Their share of the total tax paid declined from 20.9 per cent in 1918 to 15.3 per cent in 1924.

ADVERTISEMENT Night Coughs Stopped in 15 Minutes

Almost always coughing is caused by an irritated and inflamed throat or bronchial tubes, which cough syrups and patent medicines do not touch. But a famous physician's prescription recently discovered, called Thosine, goes direct to the cause, relieves the inflamed membranes and stops the cough almost instantly, one swallow does the work, and the remarkable thing about it is that it contains no dope, chloroform or harmful drugs. Once used you will never be without it. Pleasant taste. Safe for children. 35c, 60c and $1.00. At all druggists.

When a Diuretic Is Needed

Users Everywhere Rely on Doan's Pills

MOST people know the necessity of proper elimination through the bowels. The part played by the kidneys and their importance to bodily health is perhaps not so well understood.

It is the duty of the kidneys to keep the blood stream free from the toxins of bodily waste.

Sluggish kidney function, however, permits some retention of these waste poisons and is apt to make one tired and achy with often a dull, toxic back-ache and occasionally drowsy headaches and dizziness.

Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, gently assist the kidneys and aid in their elimination of body-poisons. More than 50,000 users have publicly recommended Doan's. Ask your neighbor.

THIS YEAR the General Motors line is an imposing Automobile Show in itself.

Here is every style of body. Every type of design—four cylinder, six cylinder, eight cylinder. Every improvement. Every price, from the Chevrolet touring car at $525 to the Cadillac with special coach work at $9,000. A car for every purse and purpose.

Every one of the models now on display is different and distinguished. Yet two unifying characteristics bind them all together:

1 EVERY CLOSED BODY is by Fisher. The quality of all body workmanship is Fisher quality. And because Fisher is owned by General Motors, and its plants are a part of the General Motors plants, you know that every resource has been utilized to make the body and the chassis a perfect quality unit.

2 EVERY MODEL has shared in the advantages of General Motors research, purchasing standards and Proving Ground tests; and in the economies of volume production made possible by world-wide sales.

WITH GREAT PRIDE we invite you to inspect these new cars. Dollar for dollar you will buy more value in the car you select because of General Motors quality and the public's purchase of more than 1,200,000 General Motors cars last year.

FATHER AND SON ARE INDICTED FOR WOMAN'S MURDER

Marion Jackson, 38, and Earl, 15, Named in Bill Returned by Inquisitorial Body at Poplar Bluff, Mo.

THIRD MARRIAGE OF MAN DISCLOSED

Authorities Declare Second Wife of Farmer Disappeared—No Divorce Recorded Before Third Ceremony.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., Feb. 23.—Marion Jackson, 38 years old, and his son, Earl, 15, were indicted yesterday afternoon for the murder of Mrs. Mary Jackson, 21, whose body was found in a shallow grave near Pisk, last Tuesday. The boy has confessed that he killed her with an ax, declaring she asked him to end her life.

An important angle in the Jackson case was disclosed yesterday when officers found that Marion Jackson had been married three times, although he told only of two marriages. The peculiar death of his first wife and the disappearance of his second led officers to connect their efforts to connect him with the death of his third wife, Mary Jackson.

Records here show that he was married on Sept. 7, 1907, to Nora Dabbs of Nye. Two children were born. This wife died after being found unconscious in the field near Jackson's home, in 1918. He was married again on July 20, 1921, to Martha A. Green, of Pisk. Jackson explained, a year or so later, that she stole $400 of his money and ran away. On May 11, 1923, he was married to Mary Phillips, who at that time was only 18 years old. Records in the Circuit Court here fail to show that Jackson was granted a divorce prior to his last marriage.

Neighbors of the family were called in yesterday to testify before the Butler County grand jury, investigating the murder of the third wife. Hazel Jackson, 10-year-old daughter of Jackson and his first wife, told officers that she changed her testimony relative to his third wife's disappearance. "My papa told me too," she said he told her unless she said that Mrs. Jackson had gone in the opposite direction from the plum tree near the home, where the shallow grave was found, "the officer will come out and get me and I'll never get to see you again."

Officers thought for a time that "another woman" had been found at Bloomfield who might have knowledge of the murder, but investigation proved she had no material facts to disclose.

CIVIL WAR GENERAL DIRECTS BANK AND LAW FIRM AT 91
J. Warren Keifer of Springfield (O.) Says Activity Is Best Way to Prolong Life.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Feb. 22.—Forty-five years ago Gen. J. Warren Keifer was Speaker of the National House of Representatives. More than 60 years ago he was a General in the Civil War. Yet today, at 91, he is a practicing attorney and president of a bank, and his recipe for a hearty old age is: "The best way to keep active is to lead an active life."

A General in the Civil War, Keifer attained a major-generalship in the war with Spain. He was a member of the Ohio General Assembly, and went for four terms to the national house, according to the speaker's office in 1881.

Forty-two years ago he returned to Springfield, and now he goes each morning to his office, spends several hours at banking affairs, and then devotes more to advisory duties in the law firm, which includes three generations—himself, his son and his grandson, a State Representative.

A walk every afternoon follows the day at the office. Reaching home, he reads a while and retires by 8:30, to "get down to the office on time" the next day.

Almost Bursting With Gas!

Thousands of people who suffer from that terrible feeling of oppression after eating, extreme nervousness, pains about the heart, headache, dizziness or shortness of breath do not know that such distress is often caused by pent-up gas in the stomach and bowels.

In many cases the heart is actually pushed out of place by the stomach. Is it any wonder that the circulation is impeded, causing the hands and feet to grow numb? Is it strange that the heart palpitates or "beats funny" at times?

Genuine, lasting relief from all annoying symptoms of gas can easily be obtained by taking Basman's Gas Tablets at meal time. These simple, harmless tablets, get at the very cause of the trouble and help to remove it completely. Be sure to ask for Basman's Gas Tablets—yellow packages—give $1 at Wolff-Wilson Drug Store, Walgreen Drug Co., and other good drug stores.

EXPLOSION FLAMES FILMED

Bureau of Mine Experts Use Camera as Aid to Studies.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Motion pictures are being used by Bureau of Mines experts to determine what happens in explosions, how flame propagates and how their effects may be controlled.

With special apparatus developed at their Pittsburgh laboratory they have been able to make pictures with such great rapidity that they hope to be able to measure even the speed of the flame of combustion as it moves through a detonated dynamite cartridge. By placing their cameras at apertures in an explosion chamber, they can photograph a blast as it occurs and then study it at leisure from every angle by projecting the films as slowly as they please. In like manner, they can learn a great deal

FORMER COURT CLERK PLAZA COMMISSIONER

Naming of A. F. Weeke "More or Less Political," Judge Hamilton Admits.

Circuit Judge Hamilton admitted, in conversation with a Post-Dispatch reporter today, that his appointment of August F. Weeke, a brother of Hank Weeke, a former Republican leader, as one of the commissioners to assess benefits and damages in the Memorial Plaza condemnation, was "more or less political."

The judge said he probably would not have made this appointment if he had known Weeke had been placed on two other commissions by other members of the Circuit bench within the last month. Weeke failed of reappointment Jan. 1 as a Deputy Circuit Clerk. His last assignment in that capacity had been in the court of Judge Mix and previously he was in Judge Hamilton's court. Judge Hamilton, however, considers Weeke competent for the job.

Named by Other Judges.

Judge Mix on Jan. 23 appointed Weeke, George T. McNamee and Mrs. Kate Kuhnert as a commission in the city's condemnation of land for improvement of Penrose street between North Florissant avenue and Twenty-second street. Judge Killore on Feb. 7 appointed Weeke, W. L. Reynolds and Edward A. Baumann as a commission in the city's condemnation of land for improvement of Penrose street between North Florissant avenue and Twenty-second street. Last Saturday Judge Hamilton appointed Weeke, Frank J. Masek and Alfred D. Ruth as a commission to handle the plan and municipal auditorium site condemnation of more than nine city blocks downtown.

Masek and Ruth are real estate dealers who were recommended by the Convention Bureau. Through the Real Estate Exchange, Judge Hamilton, who wanted to include a civil engineer on the commission but could not find one willing to serve for the day, read about 100 names, including Weeke's of candidates for appointment at a public hearing, and none was objected to. Weeke requested to be made a commissioner. Judge Hamilton said, and the judge agreed to name him on the next one selected, which proved to be the plaza case.

Commissioners receive $5 for every day or fraction of a day on which they meet, for each commission. Often they devote only an hour or two to a meeting, but the plaza commissioners have agreed to spend four hours daily as often as possible, to expedite this important project. Their work may require months, at that. Weeke's other commissions should finish much quicker.

Appointed as Trustee.

Judge Mix recently appointed Weeke as successor trustee under a $2500 deed of trust against lot No. 34 in Vandeventer place. Should there be a foreclosure, Weeke would be entitled to a small fee.

Circuit Clerk Schmitt said he terminated Weeke's employment because the latter had sought to place an opponent against Schmitt in the last election and because he had failed to make a certain entry, which might have jeopardized Schmitt's bond. Weeke denied these charges. He is in the insurance and surety bond business now, but several Circuit Judges said he had solicited appointments on commissions.

A Mutual Organization—Founded in 1845
346 BROADWAY, NEW YORK, N. Y.

Eighty-second Annual Statement

To the Policy-holders:

You, the members of the New York Life Insurance Company, owned 2,220,784 policies at the close of business on December 31, 1926.

You are a vast community of people representing every honest walk in life—farmers, bankers, tradesmen, merchants, laborers, manufacturers, employers and employees, and professional men and women—young and old—all banded together in common enterprise for the common good.

If you and your families could be brought together, you would populate one of the largest cities in the world. What a city it would be, with every family striving to safeguard its own future through a single co-operative institution for insurance and saving.

A Prosperous Year

In 1926, this Company, which you own, wrote another chapter of progress:

New insurance over 900 Million Dollars

Total insurance in force over 5 1/4 Billion Dollars

Paid to members and beneficiaries over 133 Million Dollars.

including over 53 Millions in Dividends

You, the policy-holders, have accumulated assets of more than 1 1/4 Billion Dollars.

This money plus your future deposits and compound interest will eventually provide for payment of the Company's obligations to you and your beneficiaries.

We believe we are one of the companies Hon. Charles Evans Hughes had in mind when he recently said:

"I like to think of the spirit of life insurance, for it is the spirit of achievement."

Nylie Is Your Investing Agent

The fund of more than 1 1/4 Billion Dollars is invested in accordance with the strict requirements of the laws of the State of New York; and it plays a substantial part in the development of the nation's farms, homes, railroads and public works.

As policy-holders, you practice thrift. You invest soundly and safely. Your money will be available to you and your dependents, impressed with emergency-power, at a time when it will be needed most.

That is what Mr. Hughes meant when he said, in the address to which I have just referred, that a life insurance policy was the best guardian of the purse that had ever been discovered.

Small Average Policy

Your total insurance is impressive; but if you divide it by 2,220,784, the number of policies, you will find that the size of the average policy is only $2,590.

Of course, some members have more than one policy; and many of you are also insured in other companies. But the great majority are UNDER-INSURED, as you will see.

Cash Value of Life

Fire insurance and life insurance protect value. The value of a worker's life is the cash worth of his future net earnings, usually far greater than the value of his property. The following points may help you to estimate the monetary value of your life.

The United States Government fixed $10,000 as the insurable life-value of American soldiers and sailors in the Great War. Mostly young unmarried men who had been earning small incomes or none at all.

Recently, according to the New York Times, the American Statistical Association declared that the money value of the average American life (including children and adults who earn no income) is $17,500! As an income earner, the value of your life is much greater.

Consider the capital required to produce income from interest. At 5%, takes $24,000 to yield $1,200 a year—$100 a month.

Much Insurance Is Needed?

MANY ILLS CAUSED BY CONSTIPATION

Carolina Lady Finds Use of Theodor's Black-Draught Excellent Way of Freeing System From Impurities.

Huntsdale, N. C.—Mrs. Sallie Langhram of this place, says: "I have used Black-Draught, as a family medicine, for a good many years. I have found it an excellent remedy for constipation and the troubles that follow it."

"I have suffered frequently from gas pains, and when I am bothered that way, I begin at once to take Black-Draught. It is not long until I am feeling much better."

"I give Black-Draught to the children when they have colds. If they are constipated, I give them Black-Draught, and it is not long until they are running around."

"I could hardly do without this reliable medicine in our home as it helps to keep us in good health. I can't help but recommend it to others."

All people—young and old—should keep their systems free from impurities. Constipation locks poisons in the body and allows them to do their dangerous work. Like Mrs. Langhram and her family, they should drive these poisons out with Theodor's Black-Draught, the pure vegetable laxative-cathartic medicine.

In use over 50 years.

"I could not sleep or do my work, but now I sleep well, walk and do my work with ease. I used Sloan's Liniment only once and it relieved me of my pain. It is just wonderful. I shall never be without it."

This is only one letter but it is typical of thousands that the makers of Sloan's have received, testifying to the amazing relief that Sloan's gives to every kind of muscular pain.

Sloan's gives real relief because it doesn't just deaden the nerves. It gets up the bodily forces to get rid of the trouble that is causing the pain.

No need to rub, it's the medicine that does the work. Just pat it instantly it sends the fresh, healing blood churning through the sick muscles—and the pain simply has to go. So clean and easy to use, it's a bottle. All druggists—35 cents.

GOV. MARTINEAU GAINS VICTORY ON INCOME TAX

Passed by Lower House, of Arkansas Legislatures, Bill Is Said to Be Certain of Favor in Senate.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 23.—Friends of the income tax bill which passed the lower house Monday night, said that 20 of the 35 Senators will support it in the Senate and that after the bill is passed enough strength will be added to adopt the emergency clause permitting the bill to become immediately effective upon approval by the Governor.

The measure will go to Senate immediately after the House has acted on the emergency clause.

Victory for Governor.

In most respects, the measure was modeled on the Federal income tax law. Its application on a State basis is cared for by necessary deviations from the Federal processes. Its passage will make a second victory for Gov. Martineau, his road financing law being the first.

In making his first public utterance on the bill, before the House Committee on Education, Gov. Martineau explained simply and frankly that it was his pledge of "better roads to better schools" that necessitated the introduction of a new form of taxation. The equalizing fund bill and other school measures pending require additional revenue.

"I have searched the whole State over for something to tax," he said, "and I have found it. I have conferred with the brightest minds in Arkansas, and the answer I have met nearly everywhere is, 'tax the other fellow.'"

The Governor told the committee and the 150 business men and spectators who attended the session recently, "I have searched the whole State over for something to tax," he said, "and I have found it. I have conferred with the brightest minds in Arkansas, and the answer I have met nearly everywhere is, 'tax the other fellow.'"

He ridiculed the projects for taxes on cosmetics, candy and other "luxuries," but declared his own bill was essentially a "luxury" tax. He pointed out that reasonable exemptions are provided for expenditures for the necessities and comforts of life, and that the excess income alone is subject to taxation.

He also scoffed at the idea that the tax would run industries out of Arkansas, or detract from the present program of industrial development. He cited the example of Mississippi with respect to effect on industrial interests, and declared the application of the income tax would result in the best investments the State can make—in the "boys and girls in the schools."

Terms of Measure.

Under the proposed bill, every person having a net income of $1000 or more, if single, and $2500 or more if married or head of a family would file state income tax returns on practically the same forms used by the United States government. They must be filed in the office of the Commissioner of Insurance and Revenues at Little Rock on or before May 15 of each year except for the present year, when an extension would be allowed to August 15, 1926 would be the first taxable year.

Taxes would be paid, however, only on the net income in excess of $1500 for single persons, $2500 for married couples or heads of households, $400 additional for each dependant under 18 years of age, and $1500 for corporations. In the case of a non-resident taxpayer or foreign corporation, the exemption allowed would be based on the proportion of gross income earned within the state.

The "net income" would be calculated through allowance of other deductions familiar to payers of the national tax.

Exempted organizations would include fraternal, beneficiary societies, building and loan associations, cemetery corporations and corporations organized for religious, charitable, scientific or educational purposes, business leagues, civic organizations, mutual companies of various kinds, farmers or fruit growers' organizations, and labor and agricultural organizations.

Division of Revenue.

The scale of tax rates would be 1 per cent on the first $3000 of net income above the personal exemption; 2 per cent on the second $3000; 3 per cent on the next $5000; 4 per cent on the next $14,000; 5 per cent on incomes above $25,000; and 4 per cent on the net incomes of domestic or foreign corporations.

Amounts collected under the tax would go to three separate funds: 40 per cent to a special school fund for such public school purposes as the General Assembly might direct; 40 per cent to a fund for the use of the University and State supported educational institutions to be established now or hereafter; and 20 per cent to the state charities fund.

Gives Town $2000 for New Sewer.

The town of Wood River, Ill., through its City Council, has accepted a gift of $2000 from the Standard Oil Co. for extension of the city sewerage system. The money will pay for construction of a "trunk" system of piping, connecting the town system of sewers with that already installed by the company.

WARNED OF PLOT TO FREE RUDNER FROM CANTON JAIL City Authorities Post Double Guards as Trial for Mellett Murder Nears Close.

CANTON, O., Feb. 23.—City authorities were on guard today, following the receipt of anonymous warnings that gangsters were planning to rescue from jail Don Rudner, now on trial for the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher, if he is convicted.

Double guards have been posted at the jail doors and at street entrances near the jail. A machine gun is mounted at the main entrance and police and Deputy Sheriffs are patrolling streets near the jail and courthouse.

Precautionary measures were taken last night after Mayor Swartz received warning that Toledo gangsters were on the way to Canton to free Rudner if he should be convicted.

Arguments in the murder trial were completed yesterday and the case went to the jury at 10:13 a. m. today.

Rudner is charged with plotting the murder of the editor during his newspaper campaign against vice and lawlessness. Patrick McDermod is serving life sentence for the actual slaying.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, know them by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective remedy for bile purity for weak, how much better you feel and look. 45c. 60c. 90c.

YOUR TEETH are naturally a pearly white.

They should not have that repellent yellowish tinge.

Of course, you have been constantly trying to remove that "yellow mask"—and failing.

PROGRAM TO RESTORE GAME IN MIDWEST

Illinois Assembly Provides Committee to Co-operate With Other Legislatures.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 23.—Illinois, through the Fifty-fifth General Assembly, is paving the way for a far-reaching program of constructive game restoration in the Middle West.

With only one dissenting vote the Senate and House have adopted a joint resolution for appointment of a committee to confer with Legislatures of adjoining states to secure uniform game and fish laws and enforcement. This committee is composed of three Senators and three Representatives, including the chairman of each fish and game committee.

Senator Earl B. Searcy, Springfield, and Representative Reeves, Champaign, chairmen of the Senate and House fish and game committees; Representative T. A. Snell, Carlinville, and Representative Acker, Savannah, have been named to this committee. The other two Senators will be named soon.

According to present members the scope of this committee will be far-reaching. While it is important that restrictive fish and game laws be made uniform in adjoining states as an aid to enforcement, the adoption of a "Mid-West" program of constructive game and fish restoration will constitute the main work of this committee.

The "Mid-West" program as outlined by Senator Searcy and other members will require co-operation of all Middle Western states from Canada to the Gulf. The establishment of a comprehensive system of preserves, rest grounds and feeding grounds in all these states, as well as State-owned land open to the public for shooting, fishing, camping and similar sports form a fundamental part of the program.

"While it is important that restrictive fish and game laws be made uniform in adjoining states," spokesmen said, "the adoption of a 'Mid West' program of restoration will constitute the main work of the committee. The establishment of a comprehensive system of preserves, rest grounds and feeding grounds in all these states, as well as opening state-owned land to the public for shooting, fishing, camping and similar sports, form a fundamental part of the program."

"The work entrusted to us probably will be the greatest effort yet made to conserve outdoor resources. This system of preserves can be acquired without a cent of direct taxes, and although every citizen will benefit, sportsmen will pay the bill through hunting and fishing licenses."

Lad Then Runs to Tell Neighbors: Declares He Isn't Sorry.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Feb. 23.—Failing to heed the warning of his 11-year-old son during a family quarrel, Calvin Frederick Sr., 45 years old, of Harrison, Ark., was shot in the right temple with a shot gun in the hands of the boy.

Frederick was said to have been beating his wife with a chair when the boy intervened and warned his father to stop.

After shooting his father, the boy ran to a neighborhood grocery and told neighbors. He said he was not sorry. The boy said his father started the quarrel about 8 a. m. and kicked him through the door. An hour later, he said, Frederick began beating his wife while she was cooking breakfast. "He wouldn't stop, so I grabbed a shotgun, aimed at his head and pulled the trigger," the boy stated.

"What Bond Bread has meant to the health of my child"

FOR 8 years Bond Bread has been the favorite loaf of St. Louis housewives.

In fact, Bond Bread is made as St. Louis housewives helped show us.

In the big home-baking contest held on November 22, 1919, at the Y. W. C. A., 2315 St. Louis housewives submitted to us the best of their home-made loaves of bread.

We took these home-made loaves and patterned from them a different baker's bread. It was firm, well-baked, golden brown, and home-like in flavor.

What has Bond Bread meant to St. Louis in these last 8 years? For one thing, we know that thousands of intelligent St. Louis women have stopped doing their own baking. That is one result of Bond Bread.

But more. Since that baking contest, nearly 145,000 children have been born in St. Louis and vicinity. Thousands of these children have never eaten any bread but Bond!

What has Bond Bread meant to them? What part has it had in building strong bodies and healthy minds? What do these thousands of thoughtful mothers think of Bond?

Send us a snapshot of your boy or girl. Tell us in few words what Bond Bread has meant to the health of your child—or children. There is $1,000 to be divided among the 161 mothers who submit the best letters. (A photo must accompany each letter.) Read the simple directions below. Get your free entry blank at your grocer's. Then write your letter and mail it today.

THE WIDESPREAD OWNERSHIP OF SECURITIES RESTS WITH THE BUYER OF MODEST MEANS

IT HAS BEEN demonstrated on the authority of bankers themselves, based upon their experience in the sale of Liberty issues during the war, that the investing class, existing as a group separate and distinct from the general economic structure, is a myth, and that the industrial toiler, as representative of the mass, is as good if not a better prospect for the purchase of investment securities than the professional element presumed to reflect "class."

This contention seems to be well established through an analysis recently made by the National Industrial Conference Board of the purchasers of 50 shares or more of an issue of 7% preferred stock brought out by a large public utility corporation.

The investors in this stock represented fifty-seven occupations or trades, including the following with the number of individual subscriptions from each calling:

Accountants	166	Engineers	558	Plasterers	60
Artists	81	Factory Workers	1,058	Plumbers	257
Bakers	153	Foremen	518	Policemen	347
Barbers	155	Housekeepers	4,029	Printers	335
Beauty Culturists	52	Janitors	119	Railroad Men	312
Bricklayers	65	Laborers	499	Seamen	51
Butchers	115	Laundry Workers	65	Secretaries	314
Carpenters	483	Machinists	499	Bankers and Brokers	65
Chauffeurs	601	Metal Workers	157	Dentists	63
Clerks	2,987	Mail Carriers	115	Doctors	146
Domestics	623	Mechanics	530	Lawyers	77
Draftsmen	149	Messengers	91	Managers	496
Dressmakers	372	Nurses	274	Manufacturers	153
Electricians	582	Painters	182	Merchants	926

It will be observed that just as many bricklayers and just as many laundry workers bought this stock as bankers and brokers, and that the clerks and housekeepers outdistanced all other callings. Machinists were more in evidence than lawyers nearly seven to one, and for every manufacturer on the list four chauffeurs invested their savings.

And it must be borne in mind that this compilation took into account only purchasers of 50 shares or more representing an investment of $5,000, and that the stock is a representative high grade issue in which many small fortunes are invested.

Less than two years ago two big electric companies sold stock to 13,856 purchasers. An analysis revealed the occupations of the nine largest groups of these new stockholders as follows:

3,347 Housewives	401 Salesmen	250 Stenographers
1,054 Miners	336 School Teachers	237 Farmers
949 Clerks	326 Laborers	178 Grocers and Butchers

There are 7,088 shareholders in these nine groups—two-thirds of the stockholders on the list. One of the smallest groups was classified as "capitalists." There were only twenty-eight of them. The housewives outnumbered them more than one hundred to one.

Here, gentlemen of the financial district, is your true investor, and THE WORLD reaches more of them in New York City than any other standard size morning newspaper.

WEEKDAY MORNINGS — IN GREATER NEW YORK

"Our Business Depends on the Common People"

"MORE than 90% of the securities in this country are bought with less than a $10,000 a year income. The average retail bond sale is between $2,000 and $3,000, so you see our business depends on the common people."

—JOHN W. PRENTISS
(From a statement made while President of the Investment Bankers Association of America.)

The Real Owners!

"It requires no stretch of the imagination to foresee that the great organizations for production, transportation and distribution will be practically owned by their employees and by the people whom they serve."

—GEORGE E. ROBERTS
(Vice President of the National City Bank, the largest bank in the United States.)

"Almost Incredible!"

"The increase in the number of people who have bought, and are buying, stocks and bonds is almost incredible. There are probably 36,000 bond salesmen at work to-day. I doubt if there were 3,600 twenty years ago. At that time there weren't a dozen investment banking houses—firms engaged solely in selling corporate securities directly to their clients—in this country. There are hundreds of these firms now. They have sold billions of dollars worth of such securities since the war."

—JOHN MOODY
(International authority on investment securities and proprietor of Moody's Manuals.)

"Me and Rockefeller"

"An amazing thing has been happening in this country. Millions of men and women who never before had bought a bond, or a share of stock, have been doing it during the past ten years. As this has put them in the same class with Rockefeller, or with any other rich man whose surplus money goes into that kind of investment, they have a perfect right to say: 'Me and Rockefeller.'"

—STUART MACKENZIE
(In the American Magazine.)

Urges Advertising

"There are few businesses that need good advertising more than the investment business. This is particularly true in the present period, when standards of living are expanding so rapidly, when spending is made so easy and so alluring by our competitors in the general merchandising field who have learned to use advertising so effectively. It should be the object of the investment banker to make investing just as easy and just as inviting as spending."

—A. E. BRYSON
(Chairman of the Investment Research Committee of the Financial Advertisers Association.)

SEASON CARDINAL PITCHERS WILL GET PLENTY OF BATTING PRACTICE

Nebraska Gains Victory, 41-34 Over Washington

Eckert Stars for Bear Team in Non-Championship Contest.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 23.—Washington University Bears came to the braska Cornhuskers in a non-championship basketball game here last night. After trailing through most of the second period, braska rallied in the last five minutes of play to score a 41-34 victory.

The game was a loose affair with neither team presenting much of a defense. As champions, the Bears were not at stake, and Eckert Black was inclined to let the regulars for the Saturday game with the Kansas Jayhawkers substituted freely.

Page, Smaha and Othmer played important parts in the Nebraska victory, while Eckert with six baskets and some excellent running line featured the Washington players. Nebraska started off with a 10-0 lead in front 14-5 at the 10 minutes mark. Coach Black sent in some reserves and Eckert and Stanford of Washington started on a scoring spree, Nebraska being hard pressed to lead by half time.

Eckert's basket from mid-air evened the score at the start of the second half and the Bears continued to set the pace until 12 minutes had gone by. Page, tall Nebraska center, turned to the lineup. Page of brated by scoring three baskets which sent Nebraska back into the lead. Smaha and Othmer put the game on ice for the Huskers.

The lineup: WASHINGTON (24). Hutton, forward 17. Elliott, forward 10. Stanford, center 4. Eckert, guard 3. Kurz, guard 1. Ruppel, forward 1. Totals 34. NEBRASKA (41). Elliott, forward 17. Stanford, center 10. Eckert, guard 4. Kurz, guard 3. Ruppel, forward 1. Totals 41.

PREP LEAGUERS TO PLAY SOCCER TOMORROW. Christian Brothers High Country Day will meet this afternoon in a soccer contest on Country Day campus. The Christian Brothers eleven is clearing everything in sight, having defeated Chamblaine, McBride, Princeton, St. Louis U. High and Country Day. Yesterday the team defeated Glenage 1 to 0.

Pitchers Must Learn to Hit. There's nothing fancy about that, but Bob Eilers, the only pitcher who yesterday was run and throw, then run some more and do a little batting, thereby getting the arm and the legs into shape at the same time. My plan was to hit, the only thing I have is that I think there never was a pitching staff in the world that had enough batting practice and I'll see that every pitcher on my squad gets every possible chance to learn to bat and to throw.

"I'll say it will," Grover Cleveland Alexander declared. "Remember that day we were playing the Cubs and Charlie Root was turning back in after inning. Finally he gave me two fast ones and tried to hit another one over. I thought sure the third one would be a curve and could hardly believe my eyes when I saw the smoky one coming again. But I took a crack at it and socked a double to left field. Douthett followed with a three-bagger and Southworth batted in with a double, and we had two runs so fast that Joe McCarthy didn't have a chance to get out of there. That was just the way I pitched the series. Hero who won two games for the Cardinals in the baseball classic last October, arrived at the camp of the world champions this morning and took part in the workout from 10:15 to 11:15 a. m.

John Schellberg, a right-handed pitcher from Houston, also joined the squad. Haines appeared to be in good condition and said he expected to have another good year. Last season he won 13 games and was named manager of the staff in the last stages of the campaign.

AMERICAN WHIPS EUROPEAN CHAMPION. PARIS, Feb. 23.—Georges Carpentier, the former light heavyweight champion, acted as judge in one of the minor bouts at the Cirque D'Automne last night. Where many champions and ex-champions figured in the fights.

Jack Walker, the American middleweight, defeated the European middleweight champion, Rene Deshayes, in the sixth round. Walker claimed a foul which was allowed. He refused to concede the judges gave the fight to Walker.

"Pladner, flyweight champion of France, easily defeated the European champion, Michel Renault, on points in 12 rounds. Pladner, on points in 12 rounds, easily outclassed Albert Lepesque, his fellow countryman, to such extent that the judges stopped the bout in the ninth.

Speed Swim Races Are Often Decided on the Getaway, Bear Coach Says

THIS is the third of a series of articles on speed swimming by Arthur E. Eilers, swimming instructor, Washington University, to be presented by the Post-Dispatch. Coach Eilers will touch on various phases of this subject, and will give his ideas as to requirements for attaining speed in aquatic events. The fourth article will be presented soon.

SPEED SWIMMING. By Arthur E. Eilers. Swimming Coach, Washington University. Third Article—The Getaway in the Sprints. The 50-yard and 100-yard dashes are swum so exactly alike that I shall treat them together, although in two articles. The present article will deal with the getaway for the short sprint races, and he next one with the sprint and the turn.

Short races of any kind are frequently won by split seconds. Therefore, a good getaway in a short race becomes of the highest importance. It is not always the fastest swimmer who wins a short swimming race. Quite often it is the one with the fastest getaway. Three things go to make up a good getaway in speed swimming. They are correctness of position for the dive, alertness in starting, and accurate diving, that carries the body into the water in such a manner that its momentum from the dive will not be checked.

The correct position for the dive is with the body leaning well forward from the waist, arms stretched straight backward, weight of body balanced on balls of feet, with toes over edge of pool, knees slightly relaxed. The toes overlap the edge of the pool, so that the push in the dive is directly against the balls of the feet. The arms are extended backward because throwing them forward in the dive helps to launch the body into flight quickly.

The diver tries to glide into the water barely deep enough to permit him to swim. He has no time to lose going down and coming up again. Just before his body comes in contact with the water it is virtually parallel with the water's surface. Flashes the come down a trifle and break the water. The head follows, but goes so slightly in that it is hardly submerged. At about the same moment feet and legs begin thrashing the water behind, and the speed swimmer is off. The extended finger tips first touch the water at a distance of from 10 feet to 14 feet from the edge of the pool in the dive.

Although it may sound a trifle odd until you understand it, the speed swimmer begins to swim while he is still in the air. If he has perfected the getaway, he will have his legs in motion, and will have completed a kick or so before he is actually in the water. (Next article, "The Sprint Stroke and the Turns.")

WASHINGTON WILL SEND FOUR MEN TO ILLINOIS CARNIVAL. A Washington University track team of four men will probably be sent to the Illinois relay meet, it was announced today. The probable entrants in the competition will be Captain Jack McDonough, in the pole vault; Paul Harding in the sprints; Carl Ledbetter, broad jump and Ted Whittier, weight thrower.

Athletic Director Bill Edmunds, Art Eilers and Bob Higgins will likely accompany the quartet. By the Associated Press. REVERE FALLS, Pa., Feb. 23.—Al East St. Louis High beat Wood River yesterday in a basketball game, 22 to 20, after leading all the way.

Johnston City Team Has Won 8 Straight Games

One American-Born Player on Eleven Which Plays Wellstons Sunday.

When the Wellstons, second-placers in the St. Louis Soccer League, take the field against the Johnston City (Ill.) F. C. in a first round United States Football Association cup tie at Sportsman's Park, Sunday, Tate Brady's men will face an eleven which has not been defeated in eight starts this year. The winner of the contest will oppose the Ben Millers, local league leaders, in the second round of the national championship competition.

Johnston City, in its games this season, has beaten the best in Southern Illinois, and in the tilt which qualified the eleven for the competition proper for the Dewar Cup, Benton was defeated, 1 goal to 0. West Frankfort, Zeigler and Royalton, all with representative teams, have been beaten by the Johnston City aggregation.

One American-Born Player. On the eleven which is scheduled to face the Wellstons there is but one American-born player. Brady, center forward. Of the others, six were born in England and four in Scotland. One of the members of the eleven is Currie, a forward, who was sought by St. Louis teams several years ago. Currie before coming to this country was a member of Bradford City in the English League.

Manager Murray of Johnston City thinks he has a real star in Jimmy Hill, a halfback. Hill is a member of the Johnston City team, according to Murray, is superior to his brother in skill. Johnston City's Roster. The eleven which will face the Wellstons Sunday, with the nationalities of the athletes, is as follows:

In addition to the cup game, it will be something like "Tate Brady Day" at Sportsman's Park Sunday, inasmuch as the Wellston Business Men's Association plans some sort of a celebration in honor of the Wellston team's manager.

SIXTEEN KNOCKDOWNS, 5 KNOCKOUTS FEATURE 9 COLISEUM FIGHT

Steadman Defeats Terry In Hard Fought Contest; Nelson Outpoints Cain

Tom Pivac, St. Louis' Heavyweight Hope, Easily Stops Earl Gibbons—About 2000 Persons Attend Revival of Boxing at the Coliseum.

By John E. Wray,
Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Nine fights, 16 knockdowns, five knockouts and approximately 30 rounds of fighting summarized the story of the return of professional boxing to the Coliseum last night.

"Fight and keep fighting" seemed to be the slogan of the principals in the events put on by the blind promoter, Jack Tippetts. From the opening going to the final one, the flow constantly changed, men stretched their lengths upon the canvas time and again, struggling to their feet to continue battling—except those unfortunates who heard the "birdies" singing and not the bell. Only counts mattered around on the wide open spaces of the Coliseum. But the show, despite the fact that it consisted of only the lowly ham-anglers, was a celebration at all to sell the program, was one to make Tex Rickard envy.

Rickard drew $183,000 to his last Garden show; but the $4000 worth of Coliseum customers were given about 10 times as much fighting and earnestness as Rickard's costly card developed.

Pivac Works Quickly.
Tom Pivac, the big heavyweight who is showing punch and promise made quick work of the heavyweight feature with Earl Gibbons of Harrisburg as his opponent. After a few flurries of the dull arms and a face-making display that would have made Renato Gardini jealous, succumbed to a terrific right hand that sent the challenger sprawling. He rose feeling and fell back into the ropes as if he were to be counted out. The victory was meaningless as establishing a new class, for Gibbons was just a joke.

Weights, 125.
Mario Greenberg, St. Louis, knocked out Billy Collins, St. Paul, after 1 minute and 38 seconds of the first round.

Weights, 135.
Claude Theodore, St. Louis, knocked out Jack Sullivan, after 1 minute and 35 seconds of the second round. Weights 150.

Norman Travis of St. Louis won from Claude Saunders of Belleville (unofficial), four rounds. Weights, 155.

Kid Stimmey, St. Louis, knocked out Ed Green, St. Louis, after 2 minutes and 10

Now, the bright future which the program with Digger Nelson battling Bill Cain saw a fierce engagement between two styles of lads of entirely different types. Cain drifted away confidently from Nelson, but he turned and fought tigerishly at times, landing savage right-hand blows to Nelson's head and body. He badly damaged Nelson's left eye and cut his nose so that it bled from time to time. However, Cain seemed to lack stamina and the insistent advance of Nelson forced the St. Louisan constantly to break ground. At the close both men were tired. Cain was a little better, but Nelson finished stronger and fought the more aggressive contest.

Steadman Thrashes Terry.
The Paul Steadman-Lou Terry fight held most interest for the crowd. Steadman, giving away eight, size and reach, insistently forced the fight and battered Terry from round to round.

Despite the indifferent attendance, Promoter Jack Tippets announced another show for March 8.

PRINCIPAL SWIMMERS IN MEET SATURDAY

The boys were in splendid condition, luckily for Terry, as, towards the close, Steadman was giving him from pillar to post in solid hocks and swings. Steadman was the light on the way.

At the middleweight event between Harry Ritzer and Len Rowlands was the only soft spot on the card. Rowlands ought not to have been defeated as he was not in condition, and appears a mere shell of the fighter who once fought the top-heavy, middleweight champion of the world at the old Future City Athletic Club here, 12 years ago.

The Principia Academy swimming team, winner in six dual meets this season, will oppose the North Side Y. M. C. A. team in the North Siders' tank Saturday. The Beaumont High School swimmers will call at Principia for a dual meet on Feb. 28, while the season will close with a contest against the Central Y. M. C. A. on March 1.

Capt. James Penfield leads in the individual scoring for Principia with a total of 58 1/2 points. He has 10 points in the 100 yard dash, 10 in the back and breast stroke races and also the relay. David Morey, Rowlands stalled and bluffed his way through, hardly making a sincere offensive move throughout the fight. He was out of his mind until he had Ritzler's nose bleeding. Ritzler apparently was headed for a knockout victory. After the fight, Ritzler had a badly swollen left thumb which, he explained, had been broken on Rowland's head in the second round. This was preventing him from finishing the fight.

Who takes part in the 40 and 100 yard races? The 40 yard race is won by second to Penfield with 48 1/2 points. Morey has won five firsts. The 100 yard race is won by a team consisting of Penfield, Hanson, Morey and Baer is undefeated.

The results of the six regular dual meets follow:

Dec. 8—Principia 49, North Side 49.
Jan. 7—Principia 35, Roosevelt 17.
Jan. 15—Principia 49, Western M. A. 20.
Feb. 22—Principia 29, Kemper M. 20.

Norman Travis appeared in a ring to be knocked into the arms of the crowd by the ferocious fangs of Claude Saunders, at the start of their four-round event, the opening bout of the show. But the crowd found saw the story reversed. Travis, in better shape than his opponent, knocked Saunders to the floor no fewer than five times. In the last round, Claude was inspected by the resin when the final gong ended the day for him.

Therodore Shows a Punch.

Charley Therodore looked like a very good fighter against Jack Sullivan, a well-conditioned and aggressive welterweight. But Therodore was well-patched by Sullivan to the canvas three times in the first round and twice the second. A short right finished the job when the second round was about half way through. Sammy Schmemann, who is nowhere near middle age in appearance but who has just turned professional, started out to block Palmer's leads with his head. Palmer is a southpaw. He windmills his brow under the first round punching, but kept crowding his opponent.

In the second Sammy got the edge and pumped southpaw shots at the enemy's commissary with a short hook to the jaw. A pleaser brought Palmer over good with an expression on his face that reminded one of Jim Corbin of the three-day's racing. His time today was three hours, 55 minutes and 15 seconds. His total elapsed time for the three days was 11 hours, 37 minutes and 25 seconds. Each day's race was over a course of 40 miles.

American Hurt On Oxford C

Caleb Gates, Former Princeton Track Captain, Suffering
Fractured Rib.

By the Associated Press.

OXFORD, England, Feb. 15.—Caleb Gates, well known as a former captain of Princeton's football team and as a football player seriously injured yesterday by an intercollegiate rugby game representing Balliol against Queen's College, here was tackled hard today in the game, when it was believed a rib was fractured, despite intense pain he refused to leave the game because the rules make substitutions impossible.

Another tackle soon after completed the fracture, the bonapartism one of Gates' lungs. He was carried off the field and rushed to Radcliffe Infirmary, where the x-ray revealed the serious injury. Balliol continued the game with 14 men and won, 15 goals to 0. Gates, who began to play only last fall, was considered by the university's chief hopes for the forthcoming meet with Cambridge on March 29.

His loss will be a heavy blow to Oxford's chances

The New (Constant Viscosity) Motor Oil

Adds to Your Pleasure!

ISO-VIS is new. It is different.
It meets the new theory of scientific lubrication—as no other motor oil ever has done.

There was one big trouble with motor oils of the past. They thinned out. The best of them lost two-thirds of their lubricating efficiency before the car had gone 200 miles!

No one knew what to do about it. Experts were baffled. Motorists were bothered. This dilution difficulty caused endless trouble—and repair bills.

Finally the problem was solved by the lubricating engineers of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). A new motor oil was developed. A motor oil of constant viscosity—Iso-Vis!

This new motor oil does not thin out. It lubricates the engine thoroughly—the thousandth mile as efficiently as the first! In cold weather as efficiently as in hot! In extremely cold weather, Iso-Vis "Light" should be used.

The engine is protected completely—and constantly—when it is lubricated with Iso-Vis. This means two important benefits to you—smoother motoring—and fewer repair bills.

Iso-Vis is an extraordinary motor oil. It helps your car to give extraordinary performance. It gives you more than ordinary motoring pleasure. Iso-Vis costs only a few cents more per quart—and a lot less per mile—than ordinary oils!

Iso-Vis "F" for Fords.

AMERICAN HURT
On Oxford Gr...
Caleb Gates, Former Prince...
Track Captain, Suffers
Fractured Rib.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 23.— Caleb Gates, well known as a former captain of Princeton's team and as a football star, was seriously injured yesterday during an intercollegiate rugby game.
Representing Balliol against Queen's College, he was tackled hard and fell in the game, when it was believed a rib was fractured, but despite intense pain he refused to leave the game because rules make substitutions impossible.

Another tackle soon after completed the fracture, the bone piercing one of Gates' lungs. He was carried off the field and rushed to Rushville Infirmary, where the Balliol continued the game with 14 men and won, 15 goals to 6.
Gates, who began to play rugby last fall, was considered one of the university's chief hopes in the forthcoming meet with Cambridge on Feb. 26. His loss will be a heavy blow to Oxford's chances.

Gates' condition adjourned subject to the call of Chairman Perkins who will return to the milers operators conference in Miami tomorrow.

VERDICT RETURNED

IN NEWSDEALER'S MURDER
Bournestein Seen Leaving Restaurant With Four Men Who Returned Alone.

Verdict of homicide at an inquest today in the murder of Bournestein, 22-year-old newsdealer, who was found shot dead in the alley behind 1118
N. Channing avenue early Monday morning.

Only five witnesses were five men who had investigated the body after the finding of the body.
They testified they had no information as to where the shooting occurred or of the identity of the murderer.

Police believe the murder was the result of beer or whisky peddling or a feud which grew out of such activities, but have been unable to identify the "GUY BROK-ER" mentioned in the only information they obtained. It was stated that Bournestein was leaving a restaurant east of Channing avenue at 1 a. m. Monday, in a cream-colored runabout when four men shot him. The bullet wound was observed there.
Four men, it is said, returned to the restaurant without Bour-nestein and left any of the 10 suspects tomorrow.

The school has been the re-

The school is a lanky youth who weighs more than 100 miles from

Because there is no place for him to sleep. "My God, Mister, lanky youth had exclaimed, "I come here to sleep, I to get educated."

He was wedged down in the stable within a year. Dr. Hill recently demonstrated a mental operations which a teacher estimated was times that of the average high school student. "That," said Hill, "was his heredity."

WAGNER-GRANT-BELL CO.
O. E. & R. G. Scott At When Holmes Tries to Replevin
Notes From Them.

Oregon E. & R. G. Scott, real estate dealers, today filed with Judge Hall a motion asking that the appointment of W. H. Holmes as receiver for the collapsed Wagner-Grant-Bell Realty Co. be set aside.
The motion follows the filing by Receiver Holmes of the Scotts roles involved in one of the deed of trust transactions of Edward W. Grant, secretary-treasurer of the company, who is under indictment for obtaining money by false pretenses.

The Scotts, moving as intervenors in the receivership suit, allege that the appointment of the receiver was illegal. They state that Leon Margous and Harry Rubin, on whose petition the decree was granted, are not creditors of Wagner-Grant-Bell by judgment, lien or contract, but merely hold a claim for personal damages. They purchased deeds of trust, through Grant, which they allege, were misrepresented to them. It is alleged by the Scotts that Margous and Rubin were without legal qualification to file the receivership petition. Judge Hall will take up the motion later.

Oregon E. Scott was one of the bondsmen who provided $50,000 surety for Grant on his return from a 10 days' absence, which began on New Year's day, just before the company's condition was disclosed.

The Political Undertow

Coolidge's Feebleness
His Strength for 1928

Administration of Futilities Lends No Color to the Usual Bogey About Third Term, and Voters Are More Likely to Grin Than to View With Alarm—No President Has Been Turned Down So Often by Congress Without Fighting Back.

By CHARLES MICHILSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—It is the feebleness of the Coolidge administration that brings the idea of a third term within the realm of possibility. Movements in that direction for some of Mr. Coolidge's predecessors have carried the seeds of their own destruction.

The peril of a dictatorship was obvious with a Roosevelt dominating the Government. But in the case of Coolidge there is no warning evidence of robustness of disposition, impatience of control, strenuousness of purpose or even definiteness of policy.

The deprecatory personality of the President makes people grin when it is suggested that establishment of the practice of holding an incumbent in the White House by dint of the tremendous influence of the Federal patronage promises to separate the whole fabric of our governmental system, by exalting the executive branch and on the other hand tending to bring the legislative under the domination of the President.

Turned Down by Congress.
There probably never has been an administration less capable of asserting itself against Congress. Other Presidents have had their battles with the House and Senate, have had their insurgent movements, and at times have known what it is to be turned down by Congress, but in each case, prior to the advent of Coolidge, a President so circumstanced has fought back.

For example, though he connived at the reading out of the Republican party of Senator Brookhart, he promptly welcomed him back when Brookhart had demonstrated that it took more than one beating to get rid of him. He rather pettishly refused to sanction Senator Curtis' ambition to be Vice President by reason of the Senator's sticking to the Old Guard when Coolidge commissioned Butler as generalissimo of the Republican army, but no sooner was Butler down and out than the White House spokesman proclaimed that he had always worked through Curtis in his commerce with the Senate.

No modern President has been turned down so often on his appointments. The political swamps are full of lame ducks, knocked down because of, or in spite of, their support of the administration's policies. Coolidge did nothing to help them in their political extremity. The White House walls are destitute of trophies marking the defeat of men who fought the President.

It is not surprising that it has been found rather hard work to dramatize the third term menace in the case of Coolidge, and that the present prevalence of the idea that Coolidge will not run is based rather on the survey of his retiring disposition than on what he or anybody else has said or done.

In a good many quarters the sudden issuance of the invitations to another disarmament conference is interpreted as a bid to identify the Coolidge regime with something of importance. The Washington arms conference, deemed President Harding's brief term from blankness. It really represented an achievement so far as it went. It is not surprising that his successor should keep recurring to the old theme, in the belief that there still is juice in the idea, whereas the political value was not in the idea but in the accomplishment. Secretary of State Hughes, who engineered the first show, had wit enough not to start it until this country had more ships to throw away than any other country, and wisdom enough to stop at the point where the opposition of France and Italy began, whereas his less fortunate successor, Secretary Kellogg, was driven to take off from a hypothetical platform that had not even reached the blue-print stage and endeavor to progress against the head wind of opposition from the nations that are bent on building what submarines they want, and who do not care a paper franc how many or how few cruisers the United States has.

Record of Futilities.
For a time it appeared as if Mr. Coolidge would make his maximum opus the adhesion of the United States to the World Court, but as usual his devotion to this was not strong enough to impel him to make a fight against reservations that killed the project.

Diplomatic futilities in Nicaragua, Mexico and China only emboldened the picture. None of them constitutes an argument why Mr. Coolidge should be exalted for a third time, but on the other hand none of them is of a texture to excite the basic antipathy to a third term.

When Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler announced the other day that Coolidge in proper time would disclaim ambition to run again, it was hailed as valid prophecy largely because it represented a hope against a certain drifting of the nomination.

Incidentally, Senator George

Moses is credited with having inspired Dr. Butler to throw the brick. Moses is one of the few Republican Senators who is in a position to challenge the presidential wrath, inevitably provoked by announcements that Coolidge either is or is not a candidate. There is no likelihood that the presidential lightning will strike a man from New Hampshire. Moreover, Moses, with six good years to serve, can afford to be indifferent to White House displeasure.

of Saint Agnese, in Rome. This is the characteristic ceremony of the presentation to the pontiff of the two live lambs from whose wool is made the "pallia" which the Pope, the Patriarch and the Archbishops wear.

The two lambs, adorned with flowers and ribbons, are first of all left at the tomb of Saint Agnese, whence they are borne to the Vatican in a motor-car. The prefects of the Apostolic ceremonies, the two canonical chamberlains of Saint John Lateran, a consistorial advocate, rota auditor, and a representative of the Trappist monks, who are the donors, are present, at the presentation to the pontiff.

After the Pope has blessed the two lambs they are taken in a Vatican carriage to the monastery of Saint Cecilia, to the sisters of which is entrusted the task of taking care of them until Easter, when they are clipped to provide wool for the manufacture of the "pallia."

500 American Students Visit Rome
By the Associated Press.
ROME, Feb. 22.—Five hundred students on the Ryndam, American "floating university" came to Rome yesterday. They visited the Vatican, where they were received by the Pope, who also gave a special audience to former Gov. Allen of Kansas, a member of the faculty of the floating university. Later they went to Chigi Palace, where Premier Mussolini received them in groups of 100. The pontiff, having learned that Gov. Allen was interested in the Mexican situation, lengthily discussed it with him, expressing hope for the speedy termination of the difficulties.

MEDITATIONS —OF A— MARRIED WOMAN

By HELEN ROWLAND

HOW TO WIN BACK LOST LOVE.
After a lovers' quarrel a man's first thought is "How can I get away?"—a woman's, "How can I get him back?"

The whole answer to that wild feminine wall is contained in one line of that beautiful classic, "Little Bo Peep."

"LEAVE 'EM ALONE—and they'll come home!"

The hardest thing on earth for a woman to do is to leave anything alone—particularly a man!

She must DO something! She must write him an apology! She must call him up and "explain!" She must flaunt a rival in his face! She must beg his pardon! She must tell him what she thinks! She must get him BACK!

At 10 p. m. a woman will send a man away "forever" in a fit of righteous wrath—and at 10 o'clock next morning she will be on the wire begging him to come back.

At midnight she will hand him his ring and his keys—and the following noon she will offer to get down and let him walk over her, if he will only bring them back.

She will furiously vow never to speak to him again—and 24 hours later try to get him on the phone so that they can "talk it all over."

Nothing so wearisome and nauseates a man as these morning-after revelations, reactions and retractions. When a man wakes up with an alcoholic headache, the very thought of champagne makes him sick. And when he wakes up with a sentimental hangover, the very thought of more sentiment makes him shudder.

If a man does not love a woman, nothing on earth will bring him back to her except a writ of habeas corpus.

If a man honestly loves a woman nothing on earth will keep him away from her except death or jail!

A real lover cannot be LOST—he can only be temporarily mislaid!

Watchful waiting is a woman's longest suit. The most eloquent thing she can say, the most dramatic thing she can do is—NOTHING!

Nothing so stirs a man's conscience or excites his curiosity as a woman's dead silence. Even a man who is only a little bit in love will come back to find out what she is thinking about, if she will only keep him waiting long enough. The greatest force on earth is perfect PASSIVITY!

A man never pays any attention to a clock until it stops ticking, or to a woman until she stops TALKING!

A very serious mistake.

—Mrs. Grouse.

FARMER BROWN'S BOY was much troubled as he saw everything wrapped in ice, and thought of the little furred and feathered people who must soon how find food enough to eat. Of course you know just what he did. He did the thing he had so often done before. He started out right after breakfast to put out food for his little friends. It was easy enough to supply sunflower seeds, wheat, grain and chaff from the barn floor, for Sammy Jay, Tommy Tit the Chickadee, Dotty the Tree Sparrow and other little feathered folk who came about the house. It was easy enough to supply corn and nuts for the Squirrel Cousins. It was even an easy matter to take some good things over to the dear Old Briar-Patch for Peter Rabbit and Mrs. Petter. But to feed Mr. and Mrs. Grouse was another matter. You see, he didn't know where they were. He didn't know where to put food for them. He did take some buckwheat over to the Green Forest and scatter it where he hoped they might find it. Ringneck the Pheasant found it and gobbled it all up, so it did do some good. Ringneck needs to be fed as well as Mr. and Mrs. Grouse.

Farmer Brown's Boy tramped around through the Green Forest for some time, trying to find Mr. and Mrs. Grouse. When finally he turned homeward he was worried. You see, he was afraid that already something had happened to them. "I'm afraid they were caught under this crust," said he as he tramped along. "We've had soft snow for so long that I am afraid they had formed the habit of plunging down into it to sleep. If they did that last night, they surely were caught by this crust. Oh dear, I wish I knew where to look for them."

He couldn't get Mr. and Mrs. Grouse out of his thoughts. He was still thinking of them as he tramped along the edge of the Old Orchard. Suddenly he stopped. He stopped and stood perfectly still. Over in one of the oldest trees in the Old Orchard, well out where the smaller twigs grew, were two big birds. He could hear the tinkle of tiny bits of ice falling. He knew those big birds instantly, of course. They were Mr. Grouse and Mrs. Grouse.

"They are budding!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy under his breath. "They are eating the buds on the apple tree. My, it does me good to see them. There may not be as many apples on that tree next year, but I don't care. I'm glad they had sense enough to come over here. Yes, sir, I'm glad they had sense enough to remember these apple trees and come over here. It must be pretty hard picking for them now with all that ice on the buds; but if the sun comes out—and I guess it's going to—the ice will melt from those trees over here in the Old Orchard, sooner than it will from the trees over there in the Green Forest."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Grouse saw Farmer Brown's Boy. Do you think they flew away? Not a bit of it. They just went right on chipping the ice off those buds and eating them. They knew that not for the world would Farmer Brown's Boy harm them. So they calmly continued with their breakfast. What they didn't know was that they were doing any harm. They didn't know that that apple tree would have fewer apples because of the budding they were doing. No, sir, they didn't know anything about that. To them a tree was a tree, no matter where it grew.

So Mr. and Mrs. Grouse went on eating buds as fast as they could. Farmer Brown's Boy continued on to the big red barn. Do you know what he was going for? He was going for buckwheat. He understood the need of Mr. and Mrs. Grouse and he was going for buckwheat.

MODISH MITZI They Are Going to Move By Jay V. Jay

Pretty picture, isn't it? We are referring to the picture of the house that Mitzi is looking at. Not at the very charming view we have of Mitzi in her spring suit of green cashmere with the bindings and waistcoat of green and white plaid. Waistcoats, by the way, are very smart.

Adelaide says she adores the house and is it something Dad is buying or selling? Mitzi replies that it is just a picture—maybe for the wall. Adelaide just dropped in to show them her new spring suit with the striped satin blouse. The skirt is pleated and the cardigan jacket unlined.

Dad has been quiet all this time, but he has overheard praise of the house. "Girls," says he, "I'm glad you like the house. We're going to move into it. We are going to move to the country, where I can have dogs and . . . Mitzi is surprised, to say the least. Well, she always did like sports clothes.

SIMPLE CAKES

By Ida Bailey Allen

THE simplest cakes are delicious if they are well made, of good materials and have distinctive flavor.

"Good materials" means the best of their kind. The shortening must be so bland in flavor that it does not need to be covered (rancid butter or rancid drippings, for instance, will ruin any cake). Eggs must be fresh—if these cannot be afforded make eggless cakes. If bread flour is used sift two tablespoons of cornstarch with each cup so the cake will have daintier texture. Buy good flavorings and trustworthy baking powder.

If cake is made with cream, no other shortening is needed. The measurement of milk should be decreased. If chicken fat is used, allow two-thirds as much as butter. In using vegetable fats or oils use an eighth less than butter. Sour milk or buttermilk may be used instead of sweet milk if not very acid. The best way is to neutralize it with one-fourth teaspoonful of soda to a cup—then use one teaspoonful less of baking powder than usual.

One of the simplest of the so-called "butter cakes" (served warm) is an old-fashioned "tea cake." To make it, measure two and one-half tablespoons vegetable oil or melted shortening into a bowl, add three-fourths cup sugar, an egg, one-fourth teaspoon salt, beat till creamy and then add two-thirds cup milk. Beat in one and one-half cups flour sifted with three teaspoons baking powder, transfer to a medium sized oiled dripping pan and spread, making the mixture rather thin. Sprinkle with one-fourth cup granulated sugar sifted with one teaspoon cinnamon and bake 25 minutes in a hot oven, 375 degrees F.

Plain sponge cake is easily made, and can be served to children. To make a good-sized loaf with only three eggs, beat eggs till very light, add one cup sugar, one-third teaspoon salt, the juice and rind of half a lemon and one-fourth cup cold water. Stir and fold in one-cup of flour, sifted with one and one-half teaspoons baking powder. Transfer to a medium-sized cake or tube pan and bake 45 minutes in a moderately hot oven, 350 to 375 degrees F. Cover the pan the first 10 minutes to prevent a crust from forming.

A plain one-egg cake may be used in many ways. To make it cream together four tablespoons butter or other shortening; three-fourths cup sugar, one teaspoon desired flavoring and an egg yolk. Sift together one and one-half cups flour, a few grains salt and one and one-half teaspoons baking powder. Add alternately with one-half cup milk to the first mixture, fold in the egg white beaten stiff and transfer to a medium sized oiled pan. Bake 35 to 40 minutes in a hot oven, 375 degrees F.

To make this into a chocolate cake, add two squares of melted chocolate with the shortening. To make it into a marble cake, divide the mixture when made and add to one part, one-half teaspoon each ground clove and cinnamon and one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg. Put alternating spoonful of the white and speed mixture in the pan to "marble" it. To make the same cake, mix into coconut squares, add one-half cup desiccated coconut to the cake mixture, transfer it to a medium sized dripping pan and sprinkle the top with more coconut and bake.

If the materials are intelligently assembled, the pans clean, the oven right—any of these simple cakes can be made quickly. They are time-saving keys to the kitchen.

THE JOY OF WORKING

By Angelo Patri

Angelo Patri is just the principal of a New York grade school, but the late Charles W. Eliot, president of Harvard, said Patri is doing more for common-school education than any other person in America. This school, a model in every respect, is a mecca for teachers from all parts of the country.

DICK and Harry raced through the house to the attic where the workbench stood. There were great deeds afoot.

"We'll make it big enough to carry a load of pebbles. They'll be the gold. And we'll have real rails on her, and everything!"

"Yes, and we'll take my lead soldiers, they're no good anyhow, and they'll be the crew."

"Oo, yes. And we'll put a rudder on her. You know that piece of copper that's lying by the garage? That'll do for a rudder."

"Yes. And we'd ought to have some lead."

"To weight her. Make her set steady. If you don't weight her she'll turn upside down."

"Not this boat won't. She'll have sails. Big sails."

"Sure. Ain't you gotta weight her to balance the sails? You know that thing underneath that hangs down in the water?"

"O, the keel, you mean. Why don't you say whatcha mean? J. sure, we have to have a keel. I know that all the time. Sure we gotta. And we gotta have a swinging pole for the big sail, too."

"You mean the jib? The stick the mainsail ties onto? Yes. We gotta have that or the sail won't turn around. Where's the hammer?"

"I got it. You use the saw. When I get done I'll let you use it. You use the saw. Saw straight now or you'll waste the wood and we haven't so much."

"Yes. This is a mighty dull saw all right, all right. You can't saw very straight with a too dull saw."

"You can saw straight enough if you look where you're sawing. You don't know how to saw. Look. You're making it all crooked."

"I ain't not. It gets that way. Have you the nail sticks ready. I mean the masts."

"Almost. This hammer isn't light enough. It bends all the nails. But I guess they'll stick all right."

"Yes. Hammer them on to the deck. Look out, can't you? You're splittin' her. Gee, can't you hammer without splittin' her?"

"I guess you'd do better, maybe. I'd like to see you nail on a mast as good as that."

"It's leaning crooked."

"Crooked, your eye. Didn't you make the deck slanting? Could I help it?"

"Let's sail her now. We can finish her some other day."

Lovely the two builders carried a queer assortment of sticks and a flat board down to the wading pond. To them she was a full rigged ship flying a Jolly Roger. The joy lay in the working. The dream is sweeter by far than the actually, always.

Tennessee Salad.

Boil and cut a tender chicken for salad in the usual way. Boil one egg hard, cut up the white in small pieces and add to the salad with a couple of finely cut up celery stalks. Boil the egg yolk and add to it the beaten yolks of three raw eggs, a half teaspoonful each of ground mustard, white pepper, salt, sugar, and celery salt, the juice of a lemon, a tablespoonful of melted butter and one tablespoonful of salad oil. Beat all well together, then add one gill of boiling vinegar. Cook until thick as cream, stirring constantly to avoid curdling. When cold pour over the chicken that has been arranged on lettuce.

Dried Lima Beans.

Soak a pint of dried lima beans overnight. When ready boil until tender, drain, add a heaping tablespoonful of butter, pepper, salt, a teaspoonful of onion juice, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar and serve.

The Diary of a New Father

Wednesday night, February 23, 1927.

Once in a while when I get home something happens that makes me want to kick myself for having lost my nerve, and one of these things happened today and when the baby grows up I am going to tell him never to waste his time getting sore at the world, but to pretend that everything is swell and everything will be swell.

Yesterday morning I got talking with one of my customers who has a little baby and he was a had cold for two weeks and he couldn't seem to get rid of it, and his wife was nearly frantic. He said, and I told him what I said, did for colds and said it was well, he went home at noon and followed my advice and this morning the baby was about nine months better, or they thought so. Anybody who has a baby, I would advise him if I was out that way. I was surprised because I was not due to call on him again until the end of the week, but I went out and he wanted to give me a small order, but I talked him into a $10.00 order before he quit feeling so happy.

When I went back to the office the boss wanted to see my order book, so I put the big one on the bottom and when he came to it he almost died and he said he wanted to congratulate me, and when the baby grows up I am going to make a Boy Scout out of him so that he will do a good deed every day and have some of his father's luck.

ON HIS OWN STORY

fense Counsel.

Thomas Lowry's statement that he "had to shoot" Patrolman Eugene Lovely, because he "was wanted, and didn't propose to stand for an arrest," was repeated to the jury today in Lowry's trial for the murder of Lovely, before Judge Murphy. The State is asking for the death penalty.
Police Capt. William Tierney repeated Lowry's words, in telling of the ride from a house in Pine Lawn, where Lowry was captured, to the Page boulevard station, the night of Sept. 25, last, nine hours after the fatal shooting at Kings Highway and Lindell boulevard.
Capt. Tierney said that when he asked the prisoner the reason for his act, and followed this with further questions as to the circumstances, Lowry's replies were: "I had to do it. I was wanted, and didn't propose to stand for an arrest."

Ordered Hands Up.
After the police car crowded Lowry to the curb on Lindell, I jumped out and ordered the policeman to throw up his hands. I told him if he didn't, I would have to stop him, as I was wanted. He didn't do it, and I fired. I don't know how many times I fired. While running away, I was shot in the arm by Patrolman Jones, whom he had wounded in the ankle.
"I ran to an alley and jumped into a Moon car, which was there with the engine running. ran to the 3400 block on Washington, and abandoned it there. Then I got a car and rode to my friend's home in Pine Lawn."
Capt. Tierney asked whether any threat, abuse or promise of immunity was used in obtaining the statement, replied in the negative. The defense sought to impeach his testimony, because he said he had his revolver in his hand when he approached Lowry, as two detectives brought Lowry out of the car in Pine Lawn. After an arrest in the jury's absence, the Court accepted this plea.

His Own Chief Witness.
Testimony for the State was expected to continue through today's session. Lowry will be the chief witness. Perhaps the only one, in his own defense, his lawyer, Emmett Golden, said today. A self-defense plea had been planned, but the State appears to have not this in advance by proving that Lowry did not have his revolver in his hand. However, the defense, in cross-examination, sought to convey the idea that Patrolmen Lovely and Jones, in their resolute pursuit of Lowry's speeding car, and in proceeding to the curb with their police car, were dealing too severely with a "minor traffic violation."
Lowry's car, had driven a way from the scene of a collision at Delmar, Boulevard and Kings Highway.
Testimony today corroborated parts of the more complete descriptions of the shooting given by yesterday's witnesses for the State. William Shifflet, a taxicab driver, said of hearing the shots, and seeing a man run across the Hotel Chase lawn, followed by Patrolmen Jones, who was limping.
Miss Iva Morrell, employed in the helping to care for Patrolman Lowry after he was carried into the hotel building, "I think he was cold then. His hand was so cold," she commented. She heard the collision and the shots, and saw the man run by the window.
Pistol Placed in Evidence.
The .45-caliber automatic pistol used by Lowry was placed in evidence, after the circumstances of its finding on the lawn of the Chase, had been told.
Mrs. Marion Corlis Mersman, who at that time occupied a sixth-floor room on the west side of the hotel, decided to hearing the shots, looking out and seeing a man running across the lawn. She noticed that he dropped a pistol, and after she had seen him run to Maryland avenue, she went downstairs and told the hotel employes to inform police as to the pistol.
When her message was taken up, Charles C. Wirtle, a police chauffeur, had just come up, and found the pistol and turned it over to police, after stating its number. Wirtle testified that the pistol was hot.
